Apollo 10 Zooms To Rendezvous With The Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Racing "right down the slot" toward a Wednesday rendezvous with the moon, the Apollo 10 astronauts today eliminated a final course correction as they hurtled deeper into the black void of space.

Their target, a sliver of silver light, loomed larger and larger as their home planet, earth, shrank in the distance, nearly 200,000 miles away.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan awoke refreshed and in good spirits after nine solid hours of sleep.

The capsule communicator at mission control, astronaut Jack Lousma, passed the good word that Apollo 10 was on such an accurate path that a course change planned for early afternoon would not be necessary.

Rhodes Hits 'Rudeness' By Newsmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes accused the news media of being rude to his guests today and said later the Life magazine story about him was not as vicious as his 1962 gubernatorial campaign.

"I've made a statement on this," he said of the Life story. "When I make the next statement I'll call all of you."

"I'm not making any accusations, as yet."

The Life story in its May 2 edition said Rhodes had paid more than $100,000 in back taxes and penalties on his income over the past 10 years. Rhodes has denied the accusations.

Rhodes referred to newsmen as being rude when they questioned him on the Life story during a news conference to announce a new industry at Waverly, Ohio.

Rhodes later apologized to Robert C. Smith, an industry official from Atlanta, Ga., "for this intrusion of my personal affairs."

Patronage Jobs Rise Despite Cutback Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the Nixon administration talks about taking politics out of the Post Office, more and more jobs are being created in other departments that could be used for patronage.

In the past month, the Agriculture Department has gotten authority to create 20 new positions in the Farmers Home Administration.

A department official said frankly the jobs are of "political interest."

"We wanted them available but we don't have any plans right now to fill them," he said.

Ohio Assembly Again Faces Housing Law

Last Chance To Reconsider Ends Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sponsors of a bill to strengthen Ohio's fair housing law worked Monday night to satisfy objections from Negro legislators who voted against it last week.

The bill was defeated by one vote last Thursday. Today is the last day the vote can be reconsidered.

Rep. Thomas E. Hill, D - 41 Cleveland, said he did not know if a motion to reconsider the vote would be made.

The bill extends Ohio's four-year-old fair housing law to prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of almost all one and two family homes.

In legislative action Monday night, the Ohio Senate sent to the House by a 33-0 vote a bill to end exploitation of ghetto residents by land contract dealers.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, said because ghetto residents can not get conventional financing to buy homes they have to purchase through land contracts.

Land contracts allow the purchase of property in installment with the seller retaining the title as security until the agreed price is paid off.

He said many sellers inflate the value of the ghetto property from 30 to 50 per cent above its true value.

The bill requires the seller to reveal any "hidden defects" in the property such as a mortgage back taxes or condemnation.

The Senate also passed 33-0 a bill to encourage more lending institutions to participate in Ohio's student loan program.

The bill permits one approved lending agency in a community to process loan applications for smaller lending agencies.

Sen. Ralph S. Regula, R-29 Navarre, the bill's sponsor, said many smaller firms do not participate in the student loan program because they do not have the time or staff to process applications.

The House passed 53-37 and sent to the Senate a bill to help health boards enforce their codes without citing a violator under criminal statutes.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Rodney Hughes, R-8 Bellefontaine, said it authorizes common pleas courts to grant injunctions to halt violations.

Catch Man Being Sought For Shooting

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A Middletown man, accused of shooting a woman at her farm near Middletown, was captured near here during a manhunt Monday night.

The man was identified as Frank Brown, 36.

Police say he shot Mrs. Sarah Gephart, 56, Monday when she surprised him in a chicken house at her farm. Despite her wounds, Mrs. Gephart drove to a neighbor's home to call police.

Warren county officers found Brown in his car about a mile north of Lebanon. He was charged with armed robbery and shooting with intent to kill.

Police arrested Brown's wife, Toni, and she is being held here. Mrs. Gephart was reported in fair condition in a Dayton hospital.

Police said Brown and his wife have been free on bonds of $5,000 in connection with the $1,000 armed robbery last March of a paraplegic tax specialist.

Presbyterians Slate Heavy Cash Outlays

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The United Presbyterian General Assembly authorized early today the planning of a $50 million dollar fund-raising campaign for the poor, to start at least one year from now.

The 840 voting ministers and elders also approved giving depressed minorities a total of $150,000 now from Church monies.

Heath, Education and Welfare had 84 positions, now has 95 and is asking for more but won't say how many.

Allies Push Viet Reds Off Mountain

SAIGON (AP) — American paratroopers and South Vietnamese infantrymen captured a North Vietnamese mountaintop fortress overlooking the A Chau Valley today in the 10th day of hard fighting for the position.

The U.S. Command said 426 North Vietnamese and 43 Americans were killed in the siege of 3,000-foot Dong Ap Bia mountain, close to the Laotian border. Another 273 paratroopers were wounded, including 45 in the final push today.

The allied force was increased nearly five-fold during the night, bringing it to more than 1,000 paratroopers and 400 South Vietnamese. Then they stormed the mountaintop from four sides, killing 75 North Vietnamese in the drive.

The final assault began at 10 a.m., and an hour and 45 minutes later one battalion from the 101st Airborne Division that had suffered heavy casualties in 10 previous assaults made it to the top and held.

As the paratroopers advanced, the North Vietnamese poured down a steady stream of rocket and hand grenades and peppered the slopes with machine gun and small arms fire.

At 11:20 a.m., the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Weldon Honeycutt, 38, of Columbus, Ga., radioed from his command helicopter overhead that "the enemy is streaming off the hill." Fifteen minutes later North Vietnamese rear guard units began firing tear gas on one of the paratrooper companies, but a brisk breeze blew most of it away.

At 12:10, Honeycutt radioed:

"There are a whole bunch of North Vietnamese wandering around in front of Alpha Company. They don't have helmets and they just seem to be in a daze."

Associated Press correspondent Jay Sharbutt reported from the battlefield that Charlie and Alpha Companies began receiving rocket grenade and mortar fire on the hilltop two hours after they had seized it. They halted their advance, while another paratrooper battalion moved out after the retreating North Vietnamese.

A total of four battalions made the final assault, three of them from the 101st Airborne and the fourth from the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division.

U.S. intelligence officers told Sharbutt the mountaintop appeared to be the headquarters base of the 29th North Vietnamese Regiment. They said it appeared that the headquarters elements pulled out during the night, leaving an estimated battalion of about 400 troops to delay the allied assault.

Sharbutt reported the once heavily jungled mountaintop looked like a forest fire had swept through it after the 10 days of heavy bomb, napalm and artillery strikes.

A South Vietnamese battalion moving up the mountain met only light resistance. It found a three-inch telephone cable that was believed to have connected the mountaintop base with North Vietnamese bases in Laos.

The paratroopers found many partly collapsed bunkers with dead North Vietnamese soldiers inside, apparently killed by the U.S. bombing and shelling.

Agnew To Sub At Ohio State Graduation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam will meet June 8 on Midway Island in the Pacific to talk about the Vietnam war and efforts to end it peacefully.

The White House announcement, made simultaneously in Saigon, said the session would last one day.

The groundwork for the first meeting of the Vietnamese chief of state and the new U.S. President was laid in Saigon last weekend when Secretary of State William P. Rogers held extensive talks there with Thieu.

The Vietnamese president said in a statement Saturday he hoped to meet with Nixon because he felt it was necessary to set up a common policy.

Midway is the scene of a turning-point battle in the Pacific in World War II—a dot of an island 1,149 miles west of Hawaii.

Nixon had to reshuffle his schedule to arrange the session with Thieu.

One casualty is his commencement address at Ohio State University June 7. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will substitute for him, the White House said.

The Nixon departure point will be his newly purchased Spanish-style residence on the Pacific shore at San Clemente, Calif.

Before leaving Saigon Monday, Secretary of State William P. Rogers agreed a summit would be useful. Rogers spent four days in Vietnam attempting to reassure the Thieu regime about Nixon administration policies.

Agnew Pilots Nuclear Sub

CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew drove a nuclear attack submarine for 15 minutes Monday and didn't say a word. He just looked happy.

"The vice president drove it very well," said four-star Adm. Bernard A. Clarey, vice chief of naval operations.

The USS Hammerhead took the vice president on a five-hour trip from Port Canaveral out to sea some 20 miles offshore of Cape Kennedy. The Hammerhead is one of the newest class of nuclear subs.

"I am delighted that I had this chance to learn a little bit about the workings of a nuclear submarine," Agnew said after the trip.

Agnew arrived Saturday in time to view the Apollo 10 launch Sunday.

AN EDITORIAL

A public hearing will be held 10 a.m. Thursday to sound out the feelings of telephone subscribers in Circleville and Ashville areas on "extended area service" between the two communities.

The hearing will be held in the 4-H and Grange Building at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Extended area service means an increase in rates for both communities. But it also means an increase in service and will serve to bridge the communication gap between the two communities.

There are presently 133 business telephones and 1,480 residential phones in the Ashville Exchange. There are 667 business telephones and 4,917 residential phones in the Circleville Exchange.

The monthly rate increase may not necessarily mean an overall increase in phone bills in many instances because of the toll charge of 15 cents that is presently in effect for calls between Circleville and Ashville.

Officials from both the General Telephone Co. and the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio will be on hand Thursday to answer questions and to hear evidence both for and against extended area service.

The Herald feels strongly that "extended area service" is a step forward, not only in bridging the communications gap, but in uniting the communities.

We urge interested parties to attend the hearing in an effort to promote the toll-free telephone service between Ashville and Circleville.

Tingler Nabbed In Oklahoma

Wanted For 6 Murders In Ohio

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — One of the FBI's "10 most wanted" fugitives remained in jail today, awaiting the start of extradition proceedings which could return him to Ohio to face six murder charges.

Richard Lee Tingler Jr., 29, was arrested Monday while he was working as a farm laborer near Dill City in western Oklahoma. He was going under the name Don Williams.

The Portsmouth, Ohio, native was arraigned in Oklahoma City before U.S. Commissioner James L. Gullett Monday afternoon on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder and armed robbery. His bond was set at $100,000.

Tingler's arrest was the second in Oklahoma recently of one of the FBI's 10 most wanted fugitives. Earlier, Ruth Eisenmann-Schier, charged in connection with the Georgia kidnapping of Barbara Jane Mackle, was captured while working as a carhop in Norman.

Tingler was armed with a .25-caliber pistol when arrested, the FBI said, but was given no chance to resist.

Tingler is charged with four murders in Cleveland, Ohio, and the slaying of two teen-agers in a Columbus, Ohio, dairy store last September and October, the FBI said.

The four Cleveland victims were found Sept. 16 in Rockefeller Park on the city's east side, Cleveland police said. The two teen-agers were killed during a robbery last Oct. 20.

The FBI said all six victims were shot in the head—some of them several times. The two teen-agers were shot after they had been bound and beaten about the head.

See Small Groups Behind Disorder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said today the wave of student disorders sweeping the nation's campuses appears to be part of a planned campaign by "certain small groups."

Mitchell, testifying before a House education subcommittee, named Students for a Democratic Society and the Black Student Union as two of the groups involved.

"By and large these groups have no constructive objective," he said. "Their sole aim is to disrupt. Their leaders brag about being revolutionaries and anarchists. They state their purpose to be to close the schools. They openly and brazenly profess a desire to destroy the establishment."

Dubious Honor For Bob Hope?

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope who has been named Father of the Year, says he's in good company but that the time is wrong.

"It's like being promoted to captain just before the iceberg hits the Titanic," the comedian said at the ceremonies Monday.

Patrolman Quits City Police Force

The already undermanned Circleville Police Force received another resignation today.

Patrolman James Francis, who has been on the force two years, resigned to accept a position at Big Bear Super Market.

With Francis' resignation, there are only four patrolmen and four sergeants to man the department. There are openings for five patrolmen on the force.

"The only reasons I can give are long hours and the pay," Francis stated in his letter of resignation to Chief of Police Robert Temple and Safety Director Robert Adkins.

Newark, N.J. Hit By Riot After Slaying

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Amid scars of the 1967 riot, racial turmoil erupted again Monday night after a Negro policeman shot a Negro youth to death during a scuffle.

Police and Negro leaders teamed up—aided by rain showers—to cool the disturbances after about 50 stores were looted, 50 persons were arrested, three Negroes were wounded by gunshots and two white newsmen were hit by thrown missiles.

A 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew was ordered, and all taverns and liquor stores were closed.

Seven arrests were on charges of possession of deadly weapons; the others on charges such as disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace.

In Freehold, 40 miles south of Newark, two Negroes were shot and wounded after bands of black youths roamed the community's commercial center smashing store windows. Police said they could offer no explanation for the trouble.

In Newark, Monday's trouble began with the fatal shooting of 17-year-old Dexter Johnson after a chase on foot following an auto collision involving a police cruiser.

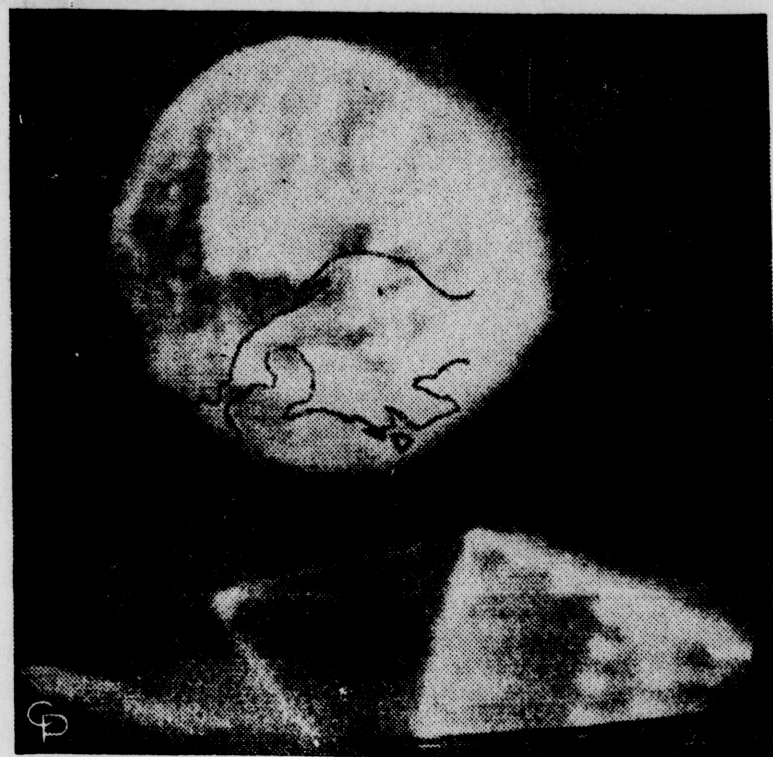

The patrolman who fired the shot, Charles Knox 28, was suspended. He has been a policeman for four years and has two commendations in his record.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan awoke refreshed and in good spirits after nine solid hours of sleep.

The capsule communicator at mission control, astronaut Jack Lousma, passed the good word that Apollo 10 was on such an accurate path that a course change planned for early afternoon would not be necessary.

"You're riding right down the slot," Lousma reported, "and we recommend deletion of the midcourse firing."

The astronauts said their sleep was not bothered by thruster firings as it was on their first night in space.

Mission control had passed up instructions to change the method of rotating the spacecraft during the night. The procedure eliminated the need for the automatic firings which resulted in what the astronauts called "dull thuds."

The astronauts reported all systems operating flawlessly on the command ship and the lunar landing rocketship module (LEM) linked to its nose.

They heard a reassuring roar from their command ship engine Monday when they fired it for the first time to make a minor midcourse correction to zero in on the desired lunar orbit path.

"That was a good burn," said Apollo 10 command Stafford.

"Beautiful," replied mission control in Houston.

The firing put the astronauts on a course that will enable them to orbit above the moon's equator, the pathway that Apollo 11 hopes to follow.

On this flight, Stafford and Cernan are to detach their LEM and descend to within 9.3 miles of the moon, over the same spot in the Sea of Tranquility where astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin hope to land.

The engine that put Apollo 10 on course is the same that must fire to shoot it into lunar orbit and fire again to propel the astronauts back toward earth.

Following their launching from Cape Kennedy Sunday, Stafford, Young and Cernan have had a leisurely voyage, resting for the busy days around the moon.

None of the pilots had shown any signs of a cold, flu or other ailment. Astronauts on the three previous Apollo missions were plagued with various illnesses.

Hotel Demands Pay From RFK

Rhodes Hits 'Rudeness' By Newsmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes accused the news media of being rude to his guests today and said later the Life magazine story about him was not as vicious as his 1962 gubernatorial campaign.

Rhodes referred to newsmen as being rude when they questioned him on the Life story during a news conference to announce a new industry at Waverly, Ohio.

Rhodes later apologized to Robert C. Smith, an industry official from Atlanta, Ga., "for this intrusion of my personal affairs."

Patronage Jobs Rise Despite Cutback Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the Nixon administration talks about taking politics out of the Post Office, more and more jobs are being created in other departments that could be used for patronage.

In the past month, the Agriculture Department has gotten authority to create 20 new positions in the Farmers Home Administration.

A department official said frankly the jobs are of "political interest."

"We wanted them available but we don't have any plans right now to fill them," he said. Most other Cabinet members have asked for and received Civil Service Commission authority to create new jobs with fat paychecks that can be filled at the secretary's whim.

Although they could be used for patronage there is no indication of any plans now to use more than a handful as a political device.

The jobs in question fall under two categories known as Schedule C and Noncareer Executive Assignments or NEA.

NEA posts cover the so-called supergrades in the General Schedule or GS scale and carry salaries between $20,000 and $30,000. Schedule C covers the others scattered in the branches of the service.

It reports no change now in any but the Navy which shows an increase from 14 in the report to Congress to 23 now. It also says the Air Force wants five more positions that would bring it even with the Navy.

The Civil Service Commission, however, says it has 86 schedule C positions listed for the office of the secretary of defense and that the Navy had increased six, not nine.

Although numerically small, the increase in potential patronage is significant.

The Justice Department had 53 positions before inauguration, now has 60 and wants another.

These figures appear to be the firmest, but presumably because of their political nature the number of Schedule C jobs at any given time in any given department may depend on who's counting.

The Pentagon, for instance, reported to the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee last September that it had 75 Schedule C jobs in the office of the secretary of defense and others scattered in the branches of the service.

It reports no change now in any but the Navy which shows an increase from 14 in the report to Congress to 23 now. It also says the Air Force wants five more positions that would bring it even with the Navy.

The Civil Service Commission, however, says it has 86 schedule C positions listed for the office of the secretary of defense and that the Navy had increased six, not nine.

Kiwanis Horse Show Preparations Underway

HORSE SHOW PREPARATION — Members of Kiwanis and Key Club are at work setting up stalls for the annual Kiwanis Charity Horse Show which will begin Saturday morning at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds. Tickets for the show are available through local clubs, organizations, businesses and at the fairgrounds.

Members of Kiwanis are putting the final touches on the 180 stalls which they will have in place by midweek, ready for the first horses to arrive for the weekend charity horse show which begins Saturday morning and continues through Sunday evening. Mrs. Allen Ankrum, horse show secretary, reports that early entries have nearly filled the available stalls, so that late arrivals will be forced to show out of trailers, which it is expected will fill all of the fairgrounds parking area.

The local show, a member of the Tri-State Horse Shows Association has received reports that all earlier shows have shown fantastic increases in the number of entries, so local show officials are expecting a record number of horses.

E. R. Bennett is again serving as chairman for the horse show. Veteran ring master, Ralph Starkey, will come from Zanesville to serve in the ring and announcing duties will be handled by Sterling and Drexel Poling. Ticket sales are under the direction of Harold Anderson. Robert Wilson is the show treasurer and Mrs. Sterling Poling is chairman of trophies and ribbons.

Horse Show sessions will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday with registered quarter horse classes in front of the grandstand. At 9 a.m. Saturday, classes in the hunter and jumper division will begin showing in the saddle ring. The quarter horses will switch to performance classes on Saturday afternoon. Qualifying classes in the five gaited division, three gaited, walking horse, equitation, English pleasure, and miscellaneous divisions will make up the program for Saturday evening beginning at 7 p.m. and continuing on Sunday afternoon beginning at 1 p.m. The championship stake classes which will complete the show, will begin 7 p.m. Sunday.

Children Get Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of disadvantaged children in Ohio will be able to participate in special educational programs under a $28,315,941 government grant for the Buckeye State.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare approved the grant under the elementary and secondary education act, U. S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Monday.

Taft's home county — Hamilton — will receive $2,945,179 of the money.

He said that children eligible for the programs are those from families with less than $2,000 annual incomes, families receiving in excess of $2,000 in aid to dependent children and youngsters in foster homes and institutions for either neglected or delinquent children.

Nye Says Governor Rhodes Should Resign Like Fortas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. William B. Nye, D-28 Akron, called Monday for the resignation of Gov. James A. Rhodes. Nye compared Rhodes to former U. S. Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, who resigned last Wednesday.

"I think for the governor not to resign under circumstances similar to those witnessed in the Fortas affair is saying that there is one set of ethics for governors and one set of ethics for Supreme Court justices," Nye said.

Fortas resigned following a Life magazine article accusing him of receiving, but later returning, $20,000 from a foundation headed by financier Louis F. Wolfson. Wolfson is serving a jail term for violating federal securities laws.

Three weeks ago Life charged that Rhodes paid more than $100,000 in delinquent taxes and interest on income he did not report. Rhodes denies the charges.

Nye said if the governor does not resign he should promise not to run for any other office after his present term ends.

"Rhodes ought to examine his own conscience and if he feels he violated his own ethics he ought to resign or announce now that he won't run again," Nye said.

Nye said the issue came up Monday after WAKR radio station in Akron asked him how he felt about the allegations in Life about Rhodes and "I told him my feelings on the whole matter."

Rhodes' chief aide, John M. McElroy, said he was "astounded" that Nye, an attorney, would make such a statement. Senate Minority Leader Charles J. Carney, D - 33 Youngstown, said he was "surprised, but not shocked" by Nye's statement.

Carney said it is "awfully easy to judge a man from a political bias. Since no state funds were involved, this is between Rhodes, his conscience and the Internal Revenue Service."

He said Nye's opinion is not shared by other Senate Democrats.

"NO ONE CAN TELL ME WHAT TO BELIEVE"

You have a mind of your own. *
Your own sense of logic and carefully reasoned moral code can govern your behavior. So who needs some minister, priest, or rabbi telling you what to do all the time?
It's easy to think this way. It's easy to join the quiet revolution against organized religion and to let self-reliance take the place of the clergy.
But before you turn your back on religion completely, ask yourself how many times is the easy way really the better way. Push ego aside long enough to ask yourself if you've ever been wrong about anything.
Then go to your church or synagogue and just listen.
If your outlook remains unchanged, then you've still lost nothing. And you may gain more than you now can even imagine.

age positions is occurring at the same time the administration is trying to end the age-old tradition of handing out postmaster-ships as political plums.

Under a bill now before Congress, the postmaster general would select postmaster candidates from the recommendations of review boards with merit and ability the only criteria.

The slow but steady increase in available political jobs comes to light—perhaps coincidentally—as President Nixon reportedly is being urged by advisers to pay more attention to party politics.

There also has been grumbling among some Republican congressmen that there are too many Democratic holdovers, to Republicans and that when they do the most deserving congressional Republicans are not being consulted.

An indication that more attention will be paid to the political area came several days ago with reports that Nixon had changed top political trouble-shooters.

The 29-year-old John Sears, a former Nixon legal colleague, who had been the top White House man for political affairs, reportedly was demoted and replaced by Harry Dent.

Dent is a former South Carolina Republican state chairman and a former aide to that state's Republican senator, Strom Thurmond.

Stock Market Off Sharply

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, with brokers reporting the consolidation phase that bit in Monday still continuing, was off sharply today in moderately active trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 6.59 at 952.43. The Dow lost 8.28 Monday.

Losses led gains by about 475 issues.

Brokers said the market's downward drift was a continuation of the consolidation that hit the market Monday. They said a spate of profit taking was to be expected, following the sharp gains the market made in its recent advances.

"The market may go as low as the 940-950 region on the Dow industrial," an analyst said.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.5 at 339.7, with industrials off 3.0, rails off .8, and utilities off .1.

On the American Stock Exchange, 6 of the 20 most-active were higher, 10 were lower, and 4 were unchanged.

John Magill will be the speaker Saturday. All interested persons are invited to attend the session.

Children Get Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of disadvantaged children in Ohio will be able to participate in special educational programs under a $28,315,941 government grant for the Buckeye State.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare approved the grant under the elementary and secondary education act, U. S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Monday.

Taft's home county — Hamilton — will receive $2,945,179 of the money.

He said that children eligible for the programs are those from families with less than $2,000 annual incomes, families receiving in excess of $2,000 in aid to dependent children and youngsters in foster homes and institutions for either neglected or delinquent children.

Nye Says Governor Rhodes Should Resign Like Fortas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. William B. Nye, D-28 Akron, called Monday for the resignation of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Nye compared Rhodes to former U. S. Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, who resigned last Wednesday.

"I think for the governor not to resign under circumstances similar to those witnessed in the Fortas affair is saying that there is one set of ethics for governors and one set of ethics for Supreme Court justices," Nye said.

Fortas resigned following a Life magazine article accusing him of receiving, but later returning, $20,000 from a foundation headed by financier Louis F. Wolfson. Wolfson is serving a jail term for violating federal securities laws.

Three weeks ago Life charged that Rhodes paid more than $100,000 in delinquent taxes and interest on income he did not report. Rhodes denies the charges.

Nye said if the governor does not resign he should promise not to run for any other office after his present term ends.

"Rhodes ought to examine his own conscience and if he feels he violated his own ethics he ought to resign or announce now that he won't run again," Nye said.

Nye said the issue came up Monday after WAKR radio station in Akron asked him how he felt about the allegations in Life about Rhodes and "I told him my feelings on the whole matter."

Rhodes' chief aide, John M. McElroy, said he was "astounded" that Nye, an attorney, would make such a statement.

Senate Minority Leader Charles J. Carney, D - 33 Youngstown, said he was "surprised, but not shocked" by Nye's statement.

Carney said it is "awfully easy to judge a man from a political bias. Since no state funds were involved, this is between Rhodes, his conscience and the Internal Revenue Service."

He said Nye's opinion is not shared by other Senate Democrats.

Disorderly Conduct Cases Top Municipal Court Docket

Disorderly conduct charges topped the Monday docket of Circleville Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb.

Robert Levan, 21, of 120 1/2 W. York St., forfeited a $100 bond set on a charge of fighting.

Stephen Hettinger, 20, Adelphi, charged by Circleville police with disorderly conduct, entered a plea of not guilty. He was fined $25 plus costs.

William Chaffin, 23, Ashville entered a plea of guilty to charges of driving 75 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone and driving an unsafe vehicle.

He was fined $50 plus costs on the first charge and $10 plus costs on the second.

Anna Lipko, 40, Route 3, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of speeding 45 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone.

Judith Riethmiller, 23, of 250 Meadow Drive, forfeited a $24 bond set on a charge of speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Charles Spears, 21, of 137 York St., forfeited a $34 bond set on a charge of driving an unsafe vehicle.

Charles McGraw, 27, of 344 E. Franklin St., forfeited a $19 bond set on a charge of speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Dewey Blevins, 70, of 214 Pearl St. forfeited a $24 bond set on a charge of intoxication.

The court collected $481 in fines, costs and bond forfeitures from 17 out-of-county motorists.

Rogers Assures U.S. Allies, But Sees Financial Limit

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers assured the SEATO allies today that the United States will not abandon them after it pulls out of Vietnam. But he warned that U.S. resources are limited.

"My government faces difficult decisions about how to allocate available resources against many urgent claims," Rogers said at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's Ministerial Council.

"These competing interests—for both domestic and overseas purposes—must somehow be balanced and compromised and reconciled."

Nevertheless, he told the SEATO ministers, "our interest in the prosperity and well-being of Asia and Asians is a permanent fixture of our foreign policy. I hope my presence here today will be accepted as one symbol of that fact.

"Our current position in Vietnam underscores this point. We want to achieve a peaceful settlement of a war that has cost everyone too much and lasted too long.

He said U.S. policy is designed not only to secure free choice for South Vietnam but also "to ensure against another Vietnam—in Asia or elsewhere."

Rogers' warning that U.S. resources are limited is a theme that has begun to accompany the assurances he is giving Asian leaders on his first diplomatic mission to this part of the world.

It apparently indicates forthcoming reductions in U.S. involvement below the high levels of the Vietnam war and foreshadows future limitations on U.S. contributions to the aid and security of the area.

Painesville Flood Worst In 25 Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Painesville Fire Chief Eugene Tuthill says the weekend flooding caused by heavy rains was the worst he had seen in 25 years.

About 80 families were evacuated from homes in Painesville, Eastlake, Willoughby and Willoughby Hills Sunday night but returned to their homes Monday.

Tuthill said a sudden rise in the level of the Grand River flooded basements and forced the city to shut off gas and electric service to affected homes.

Flooding was reported at a number of other points around the state. The Chagrin River went over its banks and washed out a bridge on U.S. 6.

The Sandusky River flooded Rodger Young Park in Fremont.

Alum and Big Walnut Creeks were expected to reach flood stage today in sections of Columbus.

The Weather Bureau said Greater Cleveland received "nearly a month's rainfall over the weekend." The rainfall from Saturday through Monday totaled about 3.5 inches.

The average for the month of May is 3.52 inches.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Showers ended in southeastern Ohio Monday evening and dry weather prevailed over the Buckeye State for the first night since Friday, when the showery weather began.

Skies were cloudy, however, over most of the state, except in the northwest portion where partial clearing and light winds allowed temperature to fall into the middle 40s. Elsewhere, temperatures mostly were in the 50s except in the lower 60s near the Ohio River.

Clearing and cooler weather is expected late tonight.

For Wednesday, sunny skies are forecast. Afternoon temperatures will reach between 55 and 65 degrees in northern Ohio to the low 70s farther south.

The outlook into Thursday calls for partly cloudy skies and temperatures a little below normal for this time of year.

FORECASTS
OHIO — Clearing north and showers ending followed by clearing south and cooler tonight. Lows in the 40s and lower 50s. Wednesday mostly sunny and a little cooler.
NORTHWEST AND NORTH-EAST OHIO — Partly cloudy and cool tonight. Lows mostly in the 40s. Wednesday fair and cooler. Highs from the middle 50s to the middle 60s.
SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST, CENTRAL AND EAST CENTRAL OHIO — Clearing and cooler tonight. Lows in upper 40s and lower 50s. Wednesday fair and cooler. Highs from the middle 60s to the lower 70s.

Judge Orders Cleveland Remap

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti ordered Monday that Cleveland City Council submit a "constitutionally sound and reasonable" reapportionment plan for the city by March 1, 1971.

In making his ruling, the judge turned down a request by attorney Milt Schulman that this year's elections for council be banned unless an immediate reapportionment plan were submitted.

The judge said the "soundest and wisest course" would be to defer reapportionment until the 1970 U.S. census statistics are made available.

Details Of President's Draft Reform Proposal Aired

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plan to reform the draft is intended, in part, to make the Selective Service system more predictable and equitable. But it won't make it less complicated.

Here, in question-and-answer form, is a basic outline of the President's plan proposed last week.

Q—What's Nixon trying to accomplish?

A—He wants to reduce uncertainty and permit draft-age men to plan their futures sooner and more confidently.

Q—Why can't they plan that way now?

A—They are subject to the draft at any time during a 7-year period between the ages of 19 and 26. If they ever have a deferment, their liability is extended to age 35.

Q—How would Nixon's plan change that?

A—It would assign each man a specific year, at age 19 to 20, when he is most likely to be drafted and tell him in advance how far down the list he stands. His chances of induction would decrease each year after that.

Q—Can the President do that now?

A—Yes and no. He has legal authority now to reduce the draftable age group from the present 19-to-26 range, down to a one-year range at age 19 or 20. But the law requires that within the designated draft-age group the oldest must be drafted first. Nixon is asking Congress for an amendment to the draft law so he can change that system.

Q—What's wrong with taking the oldest first?

A—In a one-year draft pool it would mean that those with the earliest birthdays would always be the first drafted, and those with late birthdays would be the last to go.

Q—How would Nixon solve that problem?

A—He would have draftees in each year selected by a type of lottery. First the days of the year would be scrambled into a random order and the draft-eligible men would be arranged in the same order by matching their birthdays with the scrambled calendar.

Those sharing the same birthday would be further distributed by scrambling the alphabet and matching it to the initials of their last names.

The result—scrambled first by birthdays, then by alphabet—would establish a clear sequence of who goes first, second, third, and so on.

Q—How would the chance of induction decrease in later years?

A—The President didn't say specifically. But a White House aide said it probably would mean that those past their "prime year" would not be drafted unless and until those still in a "prime year" had all been inducted.

Cincinnati Voters Approve Do-Or-Die School Levy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Nearly 85,000 pupils in Cincinnati's public school system were guaranteed a full school-day schedule for this calendar year Monday as a looming financial crisis was eased.

Fifty-seven per cent of nearly 110,000 voters registered approval of an additional 5.2 mill operating levy. School officials had said that defeat of the levy would have forced five school days to be dropped in June and 14 more next December. In all,

Y Open House Set Friday

Friday 7:30 to 10:00 p.m. the YMCA will hold an open house and mixer for junior high age students. According to the announcement, the program is open to Y members and non-members who are junior high age.

High lighting the evening junior high program will be square dancing on the Y's parking lot. Caller for the evening square dance is Roger Schneider. In addition to the square dancing, the game and television room and lounges will be open. There will not be any charge for this first Friday program.

According to the announcement, other Friday evening activities are being planned for junior and senior high age students. Special programs for out-of-school youth will be set up according to interests.

The various summer programs being planned will be for a particular age group and always well chaperoned.

In addition to the teen-age Y programs, on Thursday a father and son awards night is being conducted for grade school boys. Featured speaker for the evening program will be Craig Barclay, OSU basketball guard.

Following the presentation by Barclay, trophies will be presented to Nicholas Drive, Mound Street, Court Street and Washington Township Gra-Y clubs. Sandwiches and soft drinks will be served at the end of the awards presentation. Reservations for the Gra-Y program must be made by calling the YMCA.

$8 million in cutbacks were scheduled.

School Supt. Paul Miller, who issued a victory statement with 703 of 726 precincts reporting, had said that if 100,000 to 110,000 people turned out, the levy would pass.

It did. And for the first time in four tries for an additional levy since 1964. The Hamilton County Board of Elections said the turnout was heavy for such a special election, but the issue had been subject to a strenuous campaign—by both opponents and supporters.

The official tally was 63,313 for and 46,870 against the assessment of $5.20 for each $1,000 of property evaluation.

In issuing his victory statement, Miller said that "I knew we could count on that basic Cincinnati quality to come to the front. The voters have shown that they know a good public school system is indispensable to our community's economic life. Their dedication has kept

Antioch Prof Goes To Hiram

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Robert MacDowell will leave Antioch College at Yellow Springs, Ohio, Aug. 1 to become vice president and dean of Hiram College.

He will replace Dr. Wendell Johnson, who has asked to resume his duties as chairman of the mathematics department and professor of mathematics that he left to become dean in 1964.

Dr. MacDowell, 44, is chairman of the department of mathematics and head of the physical science program at Antioch. At Hiram College he will be in charge of academic programs and faculty.

Parma's Teachers Accept Pay Raise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Teachers in suburban Parma have accepted a $700-a-year pay raise, ending a labor dispute that kept the teachers out of the classrooms for three days earlier this month.

Starting pay for teachers in the 26,000-pupil system will go to $6,500 a year in two steps by next January. The teachers had asked a $6,700 starting salary.

Q—Could a man still obtain a deferment or an exemption?

A—Yes. But when it expired, would re-enter the draft pool at the same position he originally held in his age-group's sequence of call.

Q—How can you tell which is your "prime year"?

A—A "selective service year" would be established, depending when Congress authorizes the plan. Those men who are 19 years old when each "selective service year" begins would be the "prime" draft group.

Thus, their period of vulnerability would extend from some time after their 19th birthdays to exactly a year later. As their "prime year" ends, these men would enter a less-vulnerable category and a new group of 19-year-olds would become "prime" for a year.

Q—How would men already draft-eligible between 19 and 26 be divided up?

A—They wouldn't be. They would become—all of them—the first "prime" group in the first selective service year, and would move as a group into less-prime categories in succeeding years.

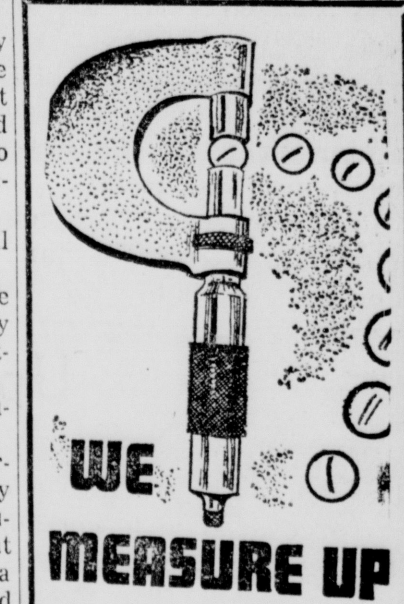

Q—Could college students still be deferred?

A—Yes, for undergraduate study, at the end of which they would again become draft-vulnerable.

Q—How about graduate students?

A—Deferments now are permitted for graduate study only to medical and ministerial students. Nixon would leave it that way, but would guarantee that a graduate student who is drafted

Central electric air conditioning

QUESTION: Isn't central air-conditioning difficult and expensive to install?

ANSWER: No. If you have a forced warm-air heating system, central air-conditioning can use the existing fan and duct work. There are instances when duct work has to be installed. This is true if your present heating system does not have duct work, such as electric ceiling cable or baseboard heating or hot water heat. But the advantage is the simplicity of newer types of duct work. In an attic installation, where cooling coils and blower are in the attic, flexible tubing or duct work can be used to distribute cooling downward into rooms, through grills.

QUESTION: Can I buy a system that is just right for my home?

ANSWER: Yes, if you buy electric! They are manufactured in any size you need.

QUESTION: How does this differ from gas units?

ANSWER: There are only three (3) residential sizes made in gas units—none of which may suit your home.

QUESTION: Honestly, now, does the unit size really matter?

ANSWER: It most certainly does! A system not large enough will not adequately cool and dehumidify your home. But, if you buy a system too large, you are, first of all, paying for larger than you need. Then there is this added disadvantage: An over-capacity unit will run less frequently. That means it will not dehumidify as much as it should. An air-conditioner dehumidifies only when the compressor is running. And the dehumidifying is as important to comfort as the lowering of temperature.

QUESTION: What about equipment cost? I get the impression that a gas system is cheaper to buy.

ANSWER: That's an impression, but not the real facts! According to local gas company advertising, you'll pay just $14.00 a month. Investigate further and you'll find that's over a period of ten (10) years! An electric system costs from 20% to 30% less to buy than a comparable gas system. With only three (3) sizes of gas units, you might be paying for a unit that is too large. Last year, 55% of all central air-conditioning units installed were of a smaller size than any gas unit available. Therefore, you might save as much as 40% for an electric system.

QUESTION: What about electric financing?

ANSWER: Our recommended dealers can finance an electric unit for approximately $14.00 per month (maybe less) for seven (7) years in any home in which a gas unit can be installed for $14.00 per month for ten (10) years.

QUESTION: But gas operation is cheaper. Right?

ANSWER: Wrong! In most cases an electric unit will operate for less than a gas unit. Rates for electricity keep going down, but rates for fuels tend to keep going up. Besides, even a gas air-conditioner requires electricity to operate controls and three (3) electric motors. And a gas unit is at best only 50% efficient.

Rogers Assures U.S. Allies, But Sees Financial Limit

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers assured the SEATO allies today that the United States will not abandon them after it pulls out of Vietnam. But he warned that U.S. resources are limited.

"My government faces difficult decisions about how to allocate available resources against many urgent claims," Rogers said at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's Ministerial Council.

"These competing interests—for both domestic and overseas purposes—must somehow be balanced and compromised and reconciled."

Nevertheless, he told the SEATO ministers, "our interest in the prosperity and well-being of Asia and Asians is a permanent fixture of our foreign policy. I hope my presence here today will be accepted as one symbol of that fact.

"Our current position in Vietnam underscores this point. We want to achieve a peaceful settlement of a war that has cost everyone too much and lasted too long."

He said U.S. policy is designed not only to secure free choice for South Vietnam but also "to ensure against another Vietnam—in Asia or elsewhere."

Rogers' warning that U.S. resources are limited is a theme that has begun to accompany the assurances he is giving Asian leaders on his first diplomatic mission to this part of the world.

It apparently indicates forthcoming reductions in U.S. involvement below the high levels of the Vietnam war and foreshadows future limitations on U.S. contributions to the aid and security of the area.

Welfare Staff To Attend Workshop

Miss Pauline E. Roese, director, Mrs. Wanda B. Norman, casework supervisor, the casework and clerical staff of the Pickaway County Welfare Department will be attending the 1969 Spring Welfare Workshop sponsored by the Ohio County Welfare Directors Association and the State Welfare Department on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20 and 21 at the Neil House, Columbus.

Mr. Robert Canary, Assistant State Welfare Director, will be the speaker at the General Session on Tuesday evening.

Study courses in which the local staff are enrolled are as follows: "Utilization of Manpower Services"; "Employability Planning with Aid to Dependent Children Families"; "WIN, The Work Incentive Program"; "The Simplified Method of Determining Eligibility"; "Legal Services for the Poor"; "Statistical Forms and Reports"; "Title XIX — Health Care"; "AFA Procedures for Leins, Insurance and Burial Awards"; "Helping Families to Use Food Stamps."

Painesville Flood Worst In 25 Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Painesville Fire Chief Eugene Tuthill says the weekend flooding caused by heavy rains was the worst he had seen in 25 years.

About 80 families were evacuated from homes in Painesville, Eastlake, Willoughby and Willoughby Hills Sunday night but returned to their homes Monday.

Tuthill said a sudden rise in the level of the Grand River flooded basements and forced the city to shut off gas and electric service to affected homes.

Flooding was reported at a number of other points around the state. The Chagrin River went over its banks and washed out a bridge on U.S. 6.

The Sandusky River flooded Rodger Young Park in Fremont.

Alum and Big Walnut Creeks were expected to reach flood stage today in sections of Columbus.

The Weather Bureau said Greater Cleveland received "nearly a month's rainfall over the weekend." The rainfall from Saturday through Monday totaled about 3.5 inches.

The average for the month of May is 3.52 inches.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Showers ended in southeastern Ohio Monday evening and dry weather prevailed over the Buckeye State for the first night since Friday, when the showery weather began.

Skies were cloudy, however, over most of the state, except in the northwest portion where partial clearing and light winds allowed temperature to fall into the middle 40s. Elsewhere, temperatures mostly were in the 50s except in the lower 60s near the Ohio River.

Clearing and cooler weather is expected late tonight.

For Wednesday, sunny skies are forecast. Afternoon temperatures will reach between 55 and 65 degrees in northern Ohio to the low 70s farther south.

The outlook into Thursday calls for partly cloudy skies and temperatures a little below normal for this time of year.

FORECASTS
OHIO — Clearing north and showers ending followed by clearing south and cooler tonight. Lows in the 40s and lower 50s. Wednesday mostly sunny and a little cooler.

NORTHWEST AND NORTHEAST OHIO — Partly cloudy and cool tonight. Lows mostly in the 40s. Wednesday fair and cooler. Highs from the middle 50s to the middle 60s.

SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST, CENTRAL AND EAST CENTRAL OHIO — Clearing and cooler tonight. Lows in upper 40s and lower 50s. Wednesday fair and cooler. Highs from the middle 60s to the lower 70s.

Judge Orders Cleveland Remap

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti ordered Monday that Cleveland City Council submit a "constitutionally sound and reasonable" reapportionment plan for the city by March 1, 1971.

In making his ruling, the judge turned down a request by attorney Milt Schulman that this year's elections for council be banned unless an immediate reapportionment plan were submitted.

The judge said the "soundest and wisest course" would be to defer reapportionment until the 1970 U.S. census statistics are made available.

Details Of President's Draft Reform Proposal Aired

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plan to reform the draft is intended, in part, to make the Selective Service system more predictable and equitable. But it won't make it less complicated.

Here, in question-and-answer form, is a basic outline of the President's plan proposed last week.

Q—What's Nixon trying to accomplish?

A—He wants to reduce uncertainty and permit draft-age men to plan their futures sooner and more confidently.

Q—Why can't they plan that way now?

A—They are subject to the draft at any time during a 7-period year between the ages of 19 and 26. If they ever have a deferment, their liability is extended to age 35.

Q—How would Nixon's plan change that?

A—It would assign each man a specific year, at age 19 to 20, when he is most likely to be drafted and tell him in advance how far down the list he stands. His chances of induction would decrease each year after that.

Q—Can the President do that now?

A—Yes and no. He has legal authority now to reduce the draftable age group from the present 19-to-26 range, down to a one-year range at age 19 or 20. But the law requires that within the designated draft-age group the oldest must be drafted first. Nixon is asking Congress for an amendment to the draft law so he can change that system.

Q—What's wrong with taking the oldest first?

A—In a one-year draft pool it would mean that those with the earliest birthdays would always be the first drafted, and those with late birthdays would be the last to go.

Q—How would Nixon solve that problem?

A—He would have draftees in each year selected by a type of lottery. First the days of the year would be scrambled into a random order and the draft-eligible men would be arranged in the same order by matching their birthdays with the scrambled calendar.

Those sharing the same birthday would be further distributed by scrambling the alphabet and matching it to the initials of their last names.

The result—scrambled first by birthdays, then by alphabet—would establish a clear sequence of who goes first, second, third, and so on.

Q—How would the chance of induction decrease in later years?

A—The President didn't say specifically. But a White House aide said it probably would mean that those past their "prime year" would not be drafted unless and until those still in a "prime year" had all been inducted.

Cincinnati Voters Approve Do-Or-Die School Levy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Nearly 85,000 pupils in Cincinnati's public school system were guaranteed a full school-day schedule for this calendar year Monday as a looming financial crisis was eased.

Fifty-seven per cent of nearly 110,000 voters registered approval of an additional 5.2 mill operating levy. School officials had said that defeat of the levy would have forced five school days to be dropped in June and 14 more next December. In all,

Y Open House Set Friday

Friday 7:30 to 10:00 p.m. the YMCA will hold an open house and mixer for junior high age students. According to the announcement, the program is open to Y members and non-members who are junior high age.

High lighting the evening junior high program will be square dancing on the Y's parking lot. Caller for the evening square dance is Roger Schneider. In addition to the square dancing, the game and television room and lounges will be open. There will not be any charge for this first Friday program.

According to the announcement, other Friday evening activities are being planned for junior and senior high age students. Special programs for out-of-school youth will be set up according to interests.

The various summer programs being planned will be for a particular age group and always well chaperoned.

In addition to the teen-age Y programs, on Thursday a father and son awards night is being conducted for grade school boys. Featured speaker for the evening program will be Craig Barclay, OSU basketball guard.

Following the presentation by Barclay, trophies will be presented to Nicholas Drive, Mound Street, Court Street and Washington Township Gra-Y clubs. Sandwiches and soft drinks will be served at the end of the awards presentation. Reservations for the Gra-Y program must be made by calling the YMCA.

$8 million in cutbacks were scheduled.

School Supt. Paul Miller, who issued a victory statement with 703 of 726 precincts reporting, had said that if 100,000 to 110,000 people turned out, the levy would pass.

It did. And for the first time in four tries for an additional levy since 1964. The Hamilton County Board of Elections said the turnout was heavy for such a special election, but the issue had been subject to a strenuous campaign—by both opponents and supporters.

The official tally was 63,313 for and 46,870 against the assessment of $5.20 for each $1,000 of property evaluation.

In issuing his victory statement, Miller said that "I knew we could count on that basic Cincinnati quality to come to the front. The voters have shown that they know a good public school system is indispensable to our community's economic life. Their dedication has kept

Antioch Prof Goes To Hiram

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Robert MacDowell will leave Antioch College at Yellow Springs, Ohio, Aug. 1 to become vice president and dean of Hiram College.

Dr. MacDowell, 44, is chairman of the department of mathematics and head of the physical science program at Antioch. At Hiram College he will be in charge of academic programs and faculty.

Parma's Teachers Accept Pay Raise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Teachers in suburban Parma have accepted a $700-a-year pay raise, ending a labor dispute that kept the teachers out of the classrooms for three days earlier this month.

Starting pay for teachers in the 26,000-pupil system will go to $6,500 a year in two steps by next January. The teachers had asked a $6,700 starting salary.

Q—Could a man still obtain a deferment or an exemption?

A—Yes. But when it expired, would re-enter the draft pool at the same position he originally held in his age-group's sequence of call.

Q—How can you tell which is your "prime year"?

A—A "selective service year" would be established, depending when Congress authorizes the plan. Those men who are 19 years old when each "selective service year" begins would be the "prime" draft group.

Thus, their period of vulnerability would extend from some time after their 19th birthdays to exactly a year later. As their "prime year" ends, these men would enter a less-vulnerable category and a new group of 19-year-olds would become "prime" for a year.

Q—Could college students still be deferred?

A—Yes, for undergraduate study, at the end of which they would again become draft-vulnerable.

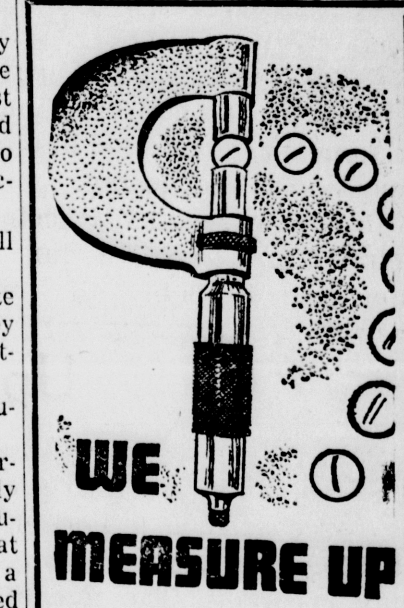

Q—How about graduate students?

A—Deferments now are permitted for graduate study only to medical and ministerial students. Nixon would leave it that way, but would guarantee that a graduate student who is drafted be permitted to finish out his current academic year.

Q—Is the Nixon reform plan complete?

A—No. Nixon directed the National Security Council and the Director of Selective Service to review present practices concerning draft deferments and exemptions and to report to him by next Dec. 1. He indicated some new guidelines for administration of the draft might be necessary.

Phasing Out Money

When fiction writers of some years ago wrote of a modern society in which money no longer had importance, they were ridiculed as having exceeded even their own fertile imaginations. But that day is rapidly approaching.

The transition from a cash society to one in which most major and many minor transactions are made by various credit devices has been a gradual one, but the trend continues, apparently irrevocably.

Many persons today notice one of the latest facets of change — the disappearance of the half dollar, but few lament its passing.

In a few years that coin will have joined the silver dollar as a dim memory. Probably the only reason other coins are still relatively popular is their utilitarian use in vending machines and as payment for sales and other nuisance taxes.

But the consumer today who pays cash for major items is looked upon in some circles with a degree of suspicion. Credit cards, check books and charge accounts have become the mediums of barter.

Clad coins which lack intrinsic value are hastening the process.

How far the cashless society will progress in the future is debatable, but it seems highly unlikely the consumer can be retrained into paying for many of his purchases at the time he takes possession.

Upcoming History

Future generations will look back on this age as a primitive one, so far as space science is concerned, regardless of how contemporary historians may record it. The age of space exploration, which began when the first caveman looked skyward and wondered about those fascinating lights he saw, probably will continue as long as intelligent life.

But the first step taken toward living in the strange and hostile environment for a protracted period will long be noted, regardless of what achievements may follow. The first colonists to remain in a terrifyingly new and unknown land are firmly etched in every country's history.

Inhabitable space platforms in a decade or two may become more than the private domain of working scientists. They could become launching pads of mushrooming outer space activity, or they could become settlements and defense mechanisms for this planet.

One day Miss Dorothy Parker made the mistake of giving the name of her friend, Alexander Woolcott, as a reference in her application for the opening of a charge account at a big Philadelphia department store.

Dear Mr. Woolcott wrote to the store's credit manager, "I hope that you will extend the requested credit to Miss Parker. Surely her position in American letters is such as to make shameful the petty refusals which she has encountered at so many hotels, restaurants, and other stores. What if you never get paid? Why shouldn't you stand your share of the expenses? Yours truly, Alexander Woolcott."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Erysipelas is a severe inflammation of the skin and its underlying tissue which, many years ago, was terrifying because of its uncontrolled spread and danger. So violent was this acute infection that it was called St. Anthony's fire. It now is controlled by the antibiotics and sulfa drugs. The known cause is a type of streptococcus germ which now is treated almost routinely with immediate improvement.

Erysipelas frequently begins around a break in the skin which allows the invasion of this bacteria. It is recognized easily because of a red butterfly-shaped distribution over the bridge of the nose and the face. Often the avenue of entrance of the germ is where the skin meets the mucous membrane lining of the mouth and nose.

Another disease, Erysipeloid, involves the skin but is caused by another germ and is not nearly as serious. It occurs rather frequently in people who handle fish and fish products.

It is most important that a break in the skin that is surrounded by an area of redness and swelling and is associated with chilliness and fever be treated early. Even today delay only tends to invite the possibility of unnecessary complications.

A young man, a junior at medical school, was admitted to the hospital because of an acute attack of gonorrhea. There seemed to be a strange kind of astonishment that a medical student, the son of a doctor, should have contracted this disease. It was almost as if the gonorrhea germ was reserved only for people of a special social level.

What was even more astonishing was that this well-informed young man should have taken this venereal disease as casually as he did. It was almost passed off as having social distinction of a "masculine" type.

This false thinking can only be the result of poor health education and total ignorance about a venereal disease that definitely is not "just a cold."

Gonorrhea and syphilis have been treated effectively by the antibiotics, but this does not mean that young people should have the rest of their lives threatened by the present epidemic spread of these diseases. It is a mistake to believe that young men and women always recover entirely from these conditions without being left with any after effects. Young women with gonorrhea frequently have complications that involve the ovaries and the Fallopian tubes, and are left barren and unable to have children.

Young men, too, pay a penalty for gonorrhea that is improperly treated. These two diseases, which only a few years ago seemed to be wiped off the roster of modern infections, now thrive in dangerous epidemic forms.

A Swedish magazine has named King Gustaf VI Adolf Sweden's best dressed man in competition which included actors, writers, bankers and artists. Despite his age — 86 — you've got to admit that old Gustav sure knows how to get all gussied up.

The magazine, describing the king's duds, says they have "sober elegance." Must mean they're neat but not stiffly so.

Now, sartorially as well as politically, Gustav certainly appears a very suitable leader of his people.

The magazine points out that the Swedish king is particularly fond of handsome ties. Since we are, too — guess we'll have to string along with his majesty on that score!

Innocent Are Punished

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Back in the dim Twenties Lucius Beebe, who was subsequently to gain great fame as a dandy, a railroad buff, a writer on high life for the New York Herald Tribune, and a publisher of a picturesque Nevada journal, threw a small mail truck through the door to Dean Jones's office at Yale University. Though Beebe was a campus poet of worthy influence, Yale fired him for his bibulous prank. Today, of course, hordes of students descend on the offices of deans, rip up the furniture, rifle the files, throw the deans themselves down the stairs — and escape with the most minimal sort of reprimands or fines.

Back in the early Thirties, an idealistic young professor of philosophy, Arthur J. Kraus, undertook to organize a student march from the City College of New York to Columbia University to protest against Fascist enormities in his native Poland and to create sentiment against rising U.S. isolationism. He had the permission of the president of City College to conduct the march. The plans for the protest collapsed, however, when the city fathers themselves objected.

To make his point about the rise of Fascism in Europe, Professor Kraus, an admirer of Mahatma Gandhi, went on a brief hunger strike, forced the reconsideration of the march (which was finally carried through with attendant bad publicity), and found himself in trouble with those who had originally sanctioned his action. He was compelled to submit to a psychiatric examination, in the course of which he was physically assaulted by a "doctor," now deceased, who, as it turned out on an investigation later conducted by famed Nuremberg prosecutor J. H. Amen, had no medical license.

After this felonious assault by the "doctor," City College fired Kraus. Several committees came to his defense, including one whose sponsors included such eminences as Professor John Dewey of Columbia University, the Reverend Joseph Sizio of the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas, economist Wesley Mitchell, Columbia law professor Karl Llewellyn, anthropologist Franz Boas, George Shuster, then the managing editor of the liberal Catholic Commonwealth and later president of Hunter College, and the Reverend James Freeman, the Bishop of Washington. But nothing moved the authorities to listen to John Dewey, Wesley Mitchell and the rest.

I wouldn't bring all this up if Professor Kraus weren't still around, seeking vindication from the New York City Board of Higher Education, which for the last few months has condoned a hundred things at the City College of New York that are clear violations of the laws of trespass and of the rights of students to the education which the taxpayers or the students' fathers and mothers innocently fancied they were buying. There is some thing worse than a double standard at work here.

Professor Kraus has spent a lifetime seeking justice for himself, which, in a way, has been a waste. You pay too much of a compliment to mankind if you expect justice from it; as President John F. Kennedy once said, life isn't fair. But if Professor Kraus wanted to do it, that was his right. In the course of his travels he has frequently lectured on the structuring of universities; he delivered a notable talk in Rome several years ago in which he outlined the changes that would have to be made if student troubles were to be avoided. The changes were not made, and the students in the French and Italian universities subsequently rioted, just as Professor Kraus had predicted they would.

No doubt the American universities had it coming to them even as the French Italian universities were due for their rude awakening. The "Kraus case," which was a scandal of the early Thirties, cast long shadows before it. Professor Kraus was guilty of nothing more or less than catering to his students' interest in public affairs. He did it within the bounds of legality, asking and getting permission for his efforts to lead a student group in dramatizing anti-Fascism. Today's students, and many of their faculty supporters, seek no legal sanction for their far more violent efforts to move the world. It is a commentary on how much we have degenerated that the present illegality is condoned while an old injustice to a law-abiding professor of the Thirties remains unrectified.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman
CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

President Nixon's proposal for peace in Vietnam was most reassuring. It was comprehensive, flexible, and humanitarian. It was a levelheaded, cool-headed, statement calmly presented which has characterized every action of our President. This is not the time for precipitous, hip-shooting decisions.

There is no way the President's statement could be interpreted as a call for the escalation of the war. Rather, it displayed a conscientious desire to escalate the peace. Yet, the President's statement could in no way be construed as suggesting defeat. The essentiality of pre-arrangement or agreement before withdrawal was made clear.

President Nixon has taken a position which all Americans intent on ending the war in Vietnam can rally round.

It seems to me that Justice Fortas did the right thing. There is no way the acceptance of a fee in that amount under the circumstances could be deemed proper. The whole episode reflected on the integrity of the Court and has harmed its image.

The Supreme Court should establish a code of ethics for its members which would require a full disclosure of net worth and financial dealings. Service on the Supreme should be full time and leave no room for acceptance of fees for any outside activity.

If the Supreme Court does not choose to establish a code of ethics, Congress may have to do it for them, although that raises the question of separation of powers. It seems to me that the Constitutional provision defining jurisdiction is broad enough to include a means of determining the members outside financial interest, however.

It was my pleasure this week to meet with two groups from the 15th Congressional District. The first group was Buckeye Branch 78 of the National Association of Letter Carriers. Their purpose was two-fold: (1) to discuss the legislative goals of the Letter carriers; (2) to present me with petitions containing names of people in all crafts employed at the Columbus, Ohio Post Office. The petitions were in support of legislation which I have sponsored to prohibit the use of the mails for the dissemination of obscene literature. The petition read in part, "We are the people who must distribute and deliver this kind of trash against our will. We will be only too happy to give our all out support to a bill which will, when passed in the Congress, Several persons have written protesting the entry into the United States of "Danny the Red." The Department of State has advised me that the requested visa of Daniel Cohn-Bendit (Danny the Red), who describes himself as an anarchist, is not under active consideration. Bendit was barred from France last year for his part in student rioting. I commend the Department of State for not taking action on Bendit's visa application, especially at a time when all across our nation we are experiencing campus disorders.

The House passed this week a bill which would extend existing law to include a foster child within the definition of dependent entitled to the benefits of medical care available under the Dependent's Medical Care Act. For the purpose of this proposal, the term "foster child" would include any child, not otherwise covered by the law, who is dependent on a member of the uniformed services for over one-half of his support and who is living in the household in a parent-child relationship. Such situations may involve children living in the member's household under preadoption agreements and minor siblings, nieces and nephews being raised in the member's home due to death or disability of the actual parents. Medical care benefits for which non-federal agencies are legally responsible are not covered by the bill.

Phasing Out Money

When fiction writers of some years ago wrote of a modern society in which money no longer had importance, they were ridiculed as having exceeded even their own fertile imaginations. But that day is rapidly approaching.

The transition from a cash society to one in which most major and many minor transactions are made by various credit devices has been a gradual one, but the trend continues, apparently irrevocably.

Many persons today notice one of the latest facets of change — the disappearance of the half dollar, but few lament its passing.

In a few years that coin will have joined the silver dollar as a dim memory. Probably the only reason other coins are still relatively popular is their utilitarian use in vending machines and as payment for sales and other nuisance taxes.

But the consumer today who pays cash for major items is looked upon in some circles with a degree of suspicion. Credit cards, check books and charge accounts have become the mediums of barter.

Clad coins which lack intrinsic value are hastening the process.

How far the cashless society will progress in the future is debatable, but it seems highly unlikely the consumer can be retrained into paying for many of his purchases at the time he takes possession.

Upcoming History

Future generations will look back on this age as a primitive one, so far as space science is concerned, regardless of how contemporary historians may record it. The age of space exploration, which began when the first caveman looked skyward and wondered about those fascinating lights he saw, probably will continue as long as intelligent life.

But the first step taken toward living in the strange and hostile environment for a protracted period will long be noted, regardless of what achievements may follow. The first colonists to remain in a terrifyingly new and unknown land are firmly etched in every country's history.

Inhabitable space platforms in a decade or two may become more than the private domain of working scientists. They could become launching pads of mushrooming outer space activity, or they could become settlements and defense mechanisms for this planet.

Dear Mr. Woolcott wrote to the store's credit manager, "I hope that you will extend the requested credit to Miss Parker. Surely her position in American letters is such as to make shameful the petty refusals which she has encountered at so many hotels, restaurants, and other stores. What if you never get paid? Why shouldn't you stand your share of the expenses? Yours truly, Alexander Woolcott."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Erysipelas is a severe inflammation of the skin and its underlying tissue which, many years ago, was terrifying because of its uncontrolled spread and danger. So violent was this acute infection that it was called St. Anthony's fire. It now is controlled by the antibiotics and sulfa drugs. The known cause is a type of streptococcus germ which now is treated almost routinely with immediate improvement.

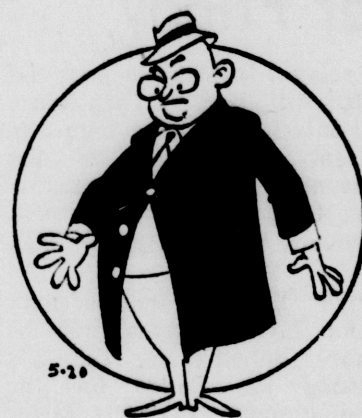

Erysipelas frequently begins around a break in the skin which allows the invasion of this bacteria. It is recognized easily because of a red butterfly-shaped distribution over the bridge of the nose and the face. Often the avenue of entrance of the germ is where the skin meets the mucous membrane lining of the mouth and nose.

Another disease, Erysipeloid, involves the skin but is caused by another germ and is not nearly as serious. It occurs rather frequently in people who handle fish and fish products. It is most important that a break in the skin that is surrounded by an area of redness and swelling and is associated with chilliness and fever be treated early. Even today delay only tends to invite the possibility of unnecessary complications.

A young man, a junior at medical school, was admitted to the hospital because of an acute attack of gonorrhea. There seemed to be a strange kind of astonishment that a medical student, the son of a doctor, should have contracted this disease. It was almost as if the gonorrhea germ was reserved only for people of a special social level.

What was even more astonishing was that this well-informed young man should have taken this venereal disease as casually as he did. It was almost passed off as having a social distinction of a "masculine" type.

This false thinking can only be the result of poor health education and total ignorance about a venereal disease that definitely is not "just a cold." Gonorrhea and syphilis have been treated effectively by the antibiotics, but this does not mean that young people should have the rest of their lives threatened by the present epidemic spread of these diseases. It is a mistake to believe that young men and women always recover entirely from these conditions without

Back in the dim Twenties Lucius Beebe, who was subsequently to gain great fame as a dandy, a railroad buff, a writer on high life for the New York Herald Tribune, and a publisher of a picturesque Nevada journal, threw a small mail trunk through the door to Dean Jones's office at Yale University. Though Beebe was a campus poet of worthy influence, Yale fired him for his bibulous prank. Today, of course, hordes of students descend on the offices of deans, rip up the furniture, rifle the files, throw the deans themselves down the stairs — and escape with the most minimal sort of reprimands or fines.

Back in the early Thirties, an idealistic young professor of philosophy, Arthur J. Kraus, undertook to organize a student march from the City College of New York to Columbia University to protest against Fascistic enormities in his native Poland and to create sentiment against rising U.S. isolationism. He had the permission of the president of City College to conduct the march. The plans for the protest collapsed, however, when the city fathers themselves objected.

To make his point about the rise of Fascism in Europe, Professor Kraus, an admirer of Mahatma Gandhi, went on a brief hunger strike, forced the reconsideration of the march (which was finally carried through with attendant bad publicity), and found himself in trouble with those who had originally sanctioned his action. He was compelled to submit to a psychiatric examination, in the course of which he was physically assaulted by a "doctor," now deceased, who, as it turned out on an investigation later conducted by famed Nuremberg prosecutor J. H. Amen, had no medical license.

After this felonious assault by the "doctor," City College fired Kraus. Several committees came to his defense, including one whose sponsors included such eminences as Professor John Dewey of Columbia University, the Reverend Joseph Sizio of the Collegiate Church of St. Nicholas, economist Wesley Mitchell, Columbia law professor Karl Llewellyn, anthropologist Franz Boas, George Shuster, then the managing editor of the liberal Catholic Commonwealth and later president of Hunter College, and the Reverend James Freeman, the Bishop of Washington. But nothing moved the authorities to listen to John Dewey, Wesley Mitchell and the rest.

I wouldn't bring all this up if Professor Kraus weren't still around, seeking vindication from the New York City Board of Higher Education, which for the last few months has condoned a hundred things at the City College of New York that are clear violations of the laws of trespass and of the rights of students to the education which either the taxpayers or the students' fathers and mothers innocently fancied they were buying. There is some thing worse than a double standard at work here.

Professor Kraus has spent a lifetime seeking justice for himself, which, in a way, has been a waste. You pay too much of a compliment to mankind if you expect justice from it; as President John F. Kennedy once said, life isn't fair. But if Professor Kraus wanted to do it, that was his right. In the course of his travels he has frequently lectured on the structuring of universities; he delivered a notable talk in Rome several years ago in which he outlined the changes that would have to be made if student troubles were to be avoided. The changes were not made, and the students in the French and Italian universities subsequently rioted, just as Professor Kraus had predicted they would.

No doubt the American universities had it coming to them even as the French Italian universities were due for their rude awakening. The "Kraus case," which was a scandal of the early Thirties, cast long shadows before it. Professor Kraus was guilty of nothing more or less than catering to his students' interest in public affairs. He did it within the bounds of legality, asking and getting permission for his efforts to lead a student group in dramatizing anti-Fascism. Today's students, and many of their faculty supporters, seek no legal sanction for their far more violent efforts to move the world. It is a commentary on how much we have degenerated that the present illegalities are condoned while an old injustice to a law-abiding professor of the Thirties remains unrectified.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

President Nixon's proposal for peace in Vietnam was most reassuring. It was comprehensive, flexible, and humanitarian. It was a levelheaded, cool-headed, statement calmly presented which has characterized every action of our President. This is not the time for precipitous, hip-shooting decisions.

There is no way the President's statement could be interpreted as a call for the escalation of the war. Rather, it displayed a conscientious desire to escalate the peace. Yet, the President's statement could in no way be construed as suggesting defeat. The essentially of pre-arrangement or agreement before withdrawal was made clear.

President Nixon has taken a position which all Americans intent on ending the war in Vietnam can rally round.

It seems to me that Justice Fortas did the right thing. There is no way the acceptance of a fee in that amount under the circumstances could be deemed proper. The whole episode reflected on the integrity of the Court and has harmed its image.

The Supreme Court should establish a code of ethics for its members which would require a full disclosure of net worth and financial dealings. Service on the Supreme should be full time and leave no room for acceptance of fees for any outside activity.

If the Supreme Court does not choose to establish a code of ethics, Congress may have to do it for them, although that raises the question of separation of powers. It seems to me that the Constitutional provision defining jurisdiction is broad enough to include a means of determining the members outside financial interest, however.

relieve us of the guilty conscience, of having had to handle such filth." I have assured the Buckeye Branch 78 delegation that my fight for enactment of this much needed legislation will continue.

The second group to pay me a visit was the Ohio State Building and Construction Trades Council delegation which held their annual National Legislative Conference in Washington. I had the pleasure of attending their Congressional Breakfast Wednesday morning as a guest of the Columbus chapter.

To date, 12 young men from the 15th Ohio District have been offered appointments to the Service Academies, Class of 1973. Selected to attend the U.S. Air Force Academy are: Gregory D. The following boys will enter the Naval Academy in July: Gary R. Hudson, Mark A. Leatherwood, Michael J. Lupidi, and John Wuichet.

Sailor's Mother Buried At Sea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mother of a Navy man killed in a plane crash in the Pacific during World War II has been granted her request to be buried at sea near him.

The Navy said today the body of Mrs. Alexander Hilton of Aurora, Ill., was put overboard Saturday 325 miles northwest of Guam, at almost the exact location where a Navy patrol plane carrying her son and other crewmen crashed June 22, 1944.

The body of her son, Machinist's Mate 3. C. Alexander Hilton Jr., was never recovered. Mrs. Hilton, a former Army nurse, requested burial at the spot.

A Swedish magazine has named King Gustaf VI Adolf Sweden's best dressed man in competition which included actors, writers, bankers and artists. Despite his age — 86 — you've got to admit that old Gustav sure knows how to get all gussied up.

The magazine, describing the king's duds, says they have "sober elegance." Must mean they're neat but not stiffly so.

Now, sartorially as well as politically, Gustav certainly appears a very suitable leader of his people.

The magazine points out that the Swedish king is particularly fond of handsome ties. Since we are, too — guess we'll have to string along with his majesty on that score!

Work Begins On Pipeline For Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Work has just begun on a major Ohio Fuel Gas Co. pipeline construction project, costing more than three and one-quarter million dollars, in Greene and Montgomery Counties that will increase deliveries of natural gas to Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., customers in Circleville and other nearby communities.

Ohio Fuel supplies natural gas to Columbia Gas of Ohio and 26 other gas companies in Ohio. Ohio Fuel and Columbia Gas of Ohio both are part of the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

Charles R. Baker, Circleville manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio, said the cost of the project would be $3,270,000.

Baker said more than 30 miles of new steel pipeline — two feet in diameter — will be laid from near Cedarville, Greene County, to near Centerville, Montgomery County.

The new pipeline section will parallel an existing Ohio Fuel pipeline and will complete a "loop" (two parallel pipelines) extending from Ohio Fuel's Crawford Compressor Station, near Sugar Grove in Fairfield County, to near Centerville.

In summer, the lines deliver out-of-state gas to Crawford Station for underground storage. In winter, the gas is taken from underground storage and sent back through the lines to Columbia Gas of Ohio customers in Circleville and other communities in the area.

Welded Construction Co., Rosebush, Mich., is building the new pipeline for Ohio Fuel. Gould Bethel, Springfield, division foreman for Ohio Fuel's Pipelines and Measurement Department, is supervisor and Orville Linebaugh, Xenia, is inspector for the gas company.

Work is expected to be completed early in July, Baker said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Alan King, without peer as a comedy monologist, and Buddy Hackett, one of the funniest of funny men, teamed up Monday night, but someone forgot to turn on the magic.

The NBC special, "Alan and his Buddy" was an uninspired hodge-podge of sketches, blackouts and songs. In the windup the two men sat around reminiscing about their growing up days, a segment you felt would have to wind up by their singing "Those Were the Days"—and, by golly, they did.

On a wife-swapping arrangement that wound up like a double dose of the Bickersons with everybody insulting everybody else. It didn't work.

For satire, we had a drunk-en, cheating, smoking father (King) lecturing his flower-child son (Hackett) on the lack of morals in the younger generation. There was a satiric number about fulsome funerals and their cost that might have been offensive to persons who had recently suffered a death among family or friends.

Brightest musical number was a duet by the stars called "The Good Old Days," which, in clever lyrics they recalled some of history's more grisly figures from Lizzie Borden to Adolph Hitler.

Rocky Urges Cooperation With Latins

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says his tour of seven Latin-American nations convinced him that "We are all in the same boat and the sooner we get together on mutual problems the better it will be."

The New York governor landed at LaGuardia Airport early today after flying from Panama where he spent the last two days of the nine-day trip.

Touring the hemisphere on a special assignment from President Nixon, Rockefeller was greeted by a warm welcome in some capitals and hostile demonstrations in others.

At an informal news conference after his arrival, the Republican governor said the demonstrators were "only students. I don't think there is any country without student demonstrations."

In Tegucigalpa, Honduras, a 19-year-old student was shot fatally in the head during a clash between police and about 500 student demonstrators protesting Rockefeller's visit.

There were also student riots in Nicaragua. Rockefeller's warmest reception came in Costa Rica. The other countries he visited were Mexico, Guatemala, and El Salvador.

Reviewing the trip in Panama Monday, Rockefeller said he found the chief concerns of Latin Americans are exports and a reduction of U.S. tariffs. He added that he also found a common desire to be economically self sufficient.

The governor is scheduled to make three more Latin-American trips in the next two months, visiting all the countries except Cuba.

Rain Prevalent In Wide Areas Of United States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain washed the Eastern Seaboard today and dampened scattered sections of the Midwest and the northern Rockies.

Downpours approaching the 2-inch mark soaked parts of up-state New York, Pennsylvania and the Carolinas Monday night and in the predawn hours. Generally, however, heavy rains which doused much of the Southeast throughout Monday tapered off to light showers or clearing skies.

Cool air rolling out of the Northern Plains triggered showers from Missouri to Michigan. Occasional light rain also sprinkled scattered areas over the northern half of the Rockies.

Temperatures dipped into the 30s from the northwestern Plains to Upper Michigan. Hancock, Mich., chilled down to 30 before daybreak.

Sen. Fulbright Says U.S. Should Quit, Get Out Of War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright has said the United States must get out of Vietnam even if it has to settle for less than a standoff and turn its attention to domestic problems that have divided the people and spawned a student rebellion.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee called for an overhaul of what he called a foreign policy of "chronic warfare and intervention" in international disputes that he said is leading this country toward an authoritarian government.

Fulbright told military leaders in a National War College speech that his criticism was of "militarism" which he said is dominating U.S. foreign policy, not of "the able, energetic men who fill the top ranks of the armed services" even though he said they "have acquired an influence disproportionate to their numbers on the nation's security policies."

"The courage and endurance of our fighting men command the respect of all Americans," Fulbright said. "The fault in our war policy lies not with them but with the political decisions which committed them to an impossible task."

The Arkansas Democrat argued that while it would be a new experience for American fighting men to settle for something less than victory and perhaps something less than a standoff, such action will be necessary to get the nation back on the track.

"In the last three decades," he said, "the United States has been heavily preoccupied with its role as the world's greatest power, to the neglect of its societal responsibilities, and at an incalculable cost to our national security."

"The political cost is reflected in the steady concentration of power in the hands of the national executive, in a long-term trend toward authoritarian government. The moral cost is reflected in the unhappiness of the American people, most particularly in the angry alienation of our youth..."

"Until the war in Vietnam is ended, there can be no prospect of the nation's more sober and generous instincts reasserting themselves, no prospect of a renewal of the nation's strength at its vital domestic source."

Firm Tests Constitutionality Of Delay In Tax Equalization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland investment firm acted Monday to test the constitutionality of a law passed by the Ohio General Assembly recently delaying a statewide uniform tax assessment of real property until 1972.

The law went into effect last Wednesday and bypasses an Ohio Supreme Court ruling Dec. 24 ordering equal property assessment rates.

The court issued its order on a suit by the Park Investment Co., directing the Board of Tax Appeals to set a uniform percentage of true value for all real property in Ohio by March 24.

Although the board began hearings on proposed regulations, the legislature intervened. Now, the Park Investment, has filed a motion with the court for an order "requiring the

Court Nixes Ohio Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Akron, Ohio, auto wrecker's argument that Ohio does not have the constitutional right to fence in junkyards was rejected Monday by the Supreme Court.

Charles and Robert Buckley challenged the state law after officials moved against Buckley's Auto Wrecking because its yard would be seen from two highways.

Ohio requires a six-foot fence around junkyards—but not scrap yards—that are within 1,000 feet of a state or county road and 300 feet of a township road.

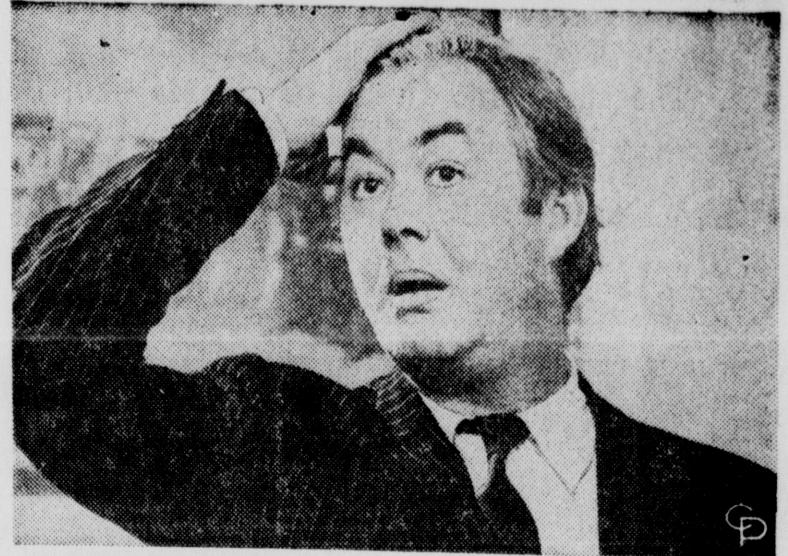

The wrecking operators, whose yard was fenced in but could be seen anyway, claimed a law "based solely on aesthetic consideration" was an unconstitutional exercise of the police power of the state.

They lost in the Ohio Supreme Court last Dec. 31 and the U.S. Supreme Court threw out the appeal without detailed explanation.

Work Begins On Pipeline For Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Work has just begun on a major Ohio Fuel Gas Co. pipeline construction project, costing more than three and one-quarter million dollars, in Greene and Montgomery Counties that will increase deliveries of natural gas to Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., customers in Circleville and other nearby communities.

Ohio Fuel supplies natural gas to Columbia Gas of Ohio and 26 other gas companies in Ohio. Ohio Fuel and Columbia Gas of Ohio both are part of the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

Charles R. Baker, Circleville manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio, said the cost of the project would be $3,270,000.

Baker said more than 30 miles of new steel pipeline — two feet in diameter — will be laid from near Cedarville, Greene County, to near Centerville, Montgomery County.

The new pipeline section will parallel an existing Ohio Fuel pipeline and will complete a "loop" (two parallel pipelines) extending from Ohio Fuel's Crawford Compressor Station, near Sugar Grove in Fairfield County, to near Centerville.

In summer, the lines deliver out-of-state gas to Crawford Station for underground storage. In winter, the gas is taken from underground storage and sent back through the lines to Columbia Gas of Ohio customers in Circleville and other communities in the area.

Welded Construction Co., Rosebush, Mich., is building the new pipeline for Ohio Fuel. Gould Bethel, Springfield, division foreman for Ohio Fuel's Pipelines and Measurement Department, is supervisor and Orville Linebaugh, Xenia, is inspector for the gas company.

Work is expected to be completed early in July, Baker said.

board to show cause why it should not be adjudged in contempt of court" for not carrying out the court's mandate by March 24.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-8 Cincinnati, who sponsored the legislation, urged putting off the uniform assessment. He said there would be "chaos" in real property tax collections if the board's court-ordered regulations went into effect.

Maloney said immediate action by the board would mean an increase in residential and agricultural property taxes in 86 of Ohio's 88 counties and possible tax reductions in two counties.

The legislation, said the chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, would permit a "gradual and orderly adjustment over the next three years."

According to Maloney, the 1968 sales ratio study indicates now that the percentage of assessments in the 88 counties ranges from 24.03 per cent to 41.85 per cent.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Alan King, without peer as a comedy monologist, and Buddy Hackett, one of the funniest of funny men, teamed up Monday night, but someone forgot to turn on the magic.

The NBC special, "Alan and his Buddy" was an uninspired hodge-podge of sketches, blackouts and songs. In the windup the two men sat around reminiscing about their growing up days, a segment you felt would have to wind up by their singing "Those Were the Days"—and, by golly, they did.

The opening sketch was based on a wife-swapping arrangement that wound up like a double dose of the Bickersons with everybody insulting everybody else. It didn't work.

For satire, we had a drunk, cheating, smoking father (King) lecturing his flower-child son (Hackett) on the lack of morals in the younger generation. There was a satiric number about fulsome funerals and their cost that might have been offensive to persons who had recently suffered a death among family or friends.

Brightest musical number was a duet by the stars called "The Good Old Days," which, in clever lyrics they recalled some of history's more grisly figures from Lizzie Borden to Adolph Hitler.

In "Little Green Apples," King uncorked an attractive singing voice—unless he was mouthing words to some one else's notes. The lyrics were acted out as a dreary marital scene.

It was a special, but neither King nor Hackett was seen at his best.

The day's real TV special came to us live from more than 100,000 miles in space—a jolly minishow presented, complete with music, by the three astronauts en route to the moon.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford had the star role: He was rightside up on camera. Navy Cmdr. John W. Young had the supporting role, since he appeared upside down throughout. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan was the cameraman. The two space travelers merrily demonstrated weightlessness by shoving a wrench through the air. Stafford moved Young up and down by touching the ton of his helmet.

In the remarkably clear pictures, the two men seemed as relaxed and merry as a pair of fishermen floating down a river. We saw some more fine shots of our small, jewel-like world from the port hole of the command ship. They thoughtfully accompanied these shots with a recording by Frank Sinatra of "Fly Me to the Moon" which has to be their song.

Meanwhile, the producers of CBS's cartoon special next Saturday, "Charlie Brown and Charles Schulz" are enchanted by the fact that the command ship's code name is "Charlie Brown," and the lunar module, "Snoopy," after two of cartoonist Schulz's more famous characters.

NBC will present a 90-minute profile of pianist Arthur Rubenstein in September with the musician talking about his life and his music and playing the compositions of Chopin and Beethoven and Villa-Lobos, among others. CBS's mostly highly praised program last year was its concert by Vladimir Horowitz.

Recommended tonight: "Generations Apart," CBS, 10-11 EDT, first of three programs examining the alienation between today's young and old.

Miss Donna Lee Kempton
Wed To Gary O. Smith

MRS. GARY ORLANDO SMITH

Miss Donna Lee Kempton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Kempton, Williamsport, became the bride of Gary Orlando Smith, Saturday, April 19, in the Atlanta United Methodist Church, Atlanta. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith.

The Rev. Orlo D. Freshly and the Rev. Frank A. White officiated at the double ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m. Traditional nuptial music was provided by Tim Draxler, organist, and Miss Connie Fodrea, vocalist, college friends of the bride. Miss Fodrea sang, "Because," "O, Master Let Us Walk With Thee," and during the ceremony "The Wedding Prayer."

Baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli, with seven branch candelabra and palms decorated the altar of the church. Pews were marked with white satin bows, emerald foliage and white carnations. Escorted down the aisle by her brother, Larry Kempton, the bride was given in marriage by her parents. She chose for her wedding a white formal length silk-faced satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace A-line gown. The empire bodice was overlaid with lace and a high wedding ring collar, with long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Wide scalloped lace encircled the hemline and Watteau train, which extended to chapel length. Her chapel length silk illusion veil was held in place by an Alencon lace princess crown encrusted with seed pearls. For her bouquet, the bride carried a Bible covered with an orchid.

Miss Linda Kempton of Williamsport, was maid of honor for her sister, and Mrs. Patricia Pond of Madison Mills, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Judy Smith, cousin of the bride, of Hagerstown, Ind., and Mrs. Joanne Oesterle, aunt of the bride, or Washington C. H. Miss Carol Beckett, college roommate of the bride, of Covington, Ky., was bridesmaid. They wore formal length silk chiffon sheath gowns. The empire bodices were accented with a band of satin and streamers, a jewel neckline edged in a ruffle. They wore matching organza roses and puffed veils and carried gladioli to match their gowns. The honor attendant wore yellow, while the others wore lavender, mint green, pink and blue respectively.

Miss Kathleen Tully, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Tully, of Circleville, was flower girl. Her gown of aqua was identical to the attendants and she carried a basket filled with miniature white roses. Master Greg Smith, brother of the groom, was ringbearer. David Smith of Hagerstown, Ind., served his brother as best man. Ushers were Rick Pond of Madison Mills, Donald Oesterle of Washington C. H., Larry Kempton, brother of the bride of Williamsport, and Kenneth Smith, brother of the groom of Xenia.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church annex. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a cross. Flowers depicting the colors of the attendants' gowns were used in decorating the brides table.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donna Thompson, Miss Gloria Gerhardt, Miss Marsha Reynolds and Miss Sally Orihood, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Beverly Carper presided at the guest book. The bride, a graduate of Westfall High School, attended Asbury College and Wilmington College, and is presently a dental assistant, employed by Dr. Joseph E. Goeller, Circleville.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenview High School, Jamestown. After having served with the United States Army in Vietnam and Germany, he is presently stationed at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Guests for the wedding were from Covington, Ky., Wilmore,

Girl Is Drowned
On School Trip
As Bridge Falls

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — One girl presumably drowned and nine classmates were drenched but uninjured Monday night after a footbridge over the Mohican River collapsed at Camp Nelson Dodd 20 miles northeast of here.

No cause for the bridge's collapse had been determined by early this morning. Rescue workers were still searching the deep waters for the girl late Monday night.

Knox County Sheriff's deputies said the ten children were with a group of 94 sixth graders from Newark visiting the camp as part of an outdoor education program.

The group arrived Sunday and was planning to stay a week. All have returned to Newark, deputies said.

Ky., Hagerstown, Ind., Middletown, Hamilton, Dayton, Gahanna, Wilmington, Xenia, Springfield, Sebring, Columbus, and Springboro.

For a wedding trip, the couple went to Gettysburg and Washington D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kempton entertained with the rehearsal dinner at the Wardel Party Home, Circleville, on Friday evening preceding the wedding.

Miss Jill Jenkins Becomes Bride Of Warren S. Lutz Jr.

MRS. WARREN S. LUTZ JR.

Good Shepherd United Methodist Church was the setting on May 17, for the wedding of Miss Jill Carol Jenkins and Mr. Warren Samuel Lutz Jr.

The new Mrs. Lutz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Jenkins, 353 Watt St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Lutz, 152 Logan St.

The Rev. Eugene Flowers officiated at the 7:30 p.m. double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with two seven-tiered candelabra and two altar vases filled with white carnations, pom poms and gladioli. White bows marked the pews.

Miss Lucille Kirkwood presented a program of nuptial music at the organ. Clarence Radcliffe, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Wedding Prayer" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of silk peau de soie and English net. The demi-tent silhouette had a medieval look with a high empire waistline and a jeweled front neckline which squared off in the back. The English net sleeves were cuffed in lace and complimented the inserts of lace appliqued on English net on the bodice and encircling the skirt and attached chapel train. Her short veil of silk illusion cascaded from an open pillbox and short veil of English net and lace.

The bridal bouquet consisted of white decorative mums and a cymbidium orchid in the center.

Mrs. Cheryl Bircher was matron of honor. Her gown was of pink chiffon with a wedding ring neckline, long sheer sleeves of chiffon and modified empire waistline with sheared skirt. Her headpiece was of pink chiffon in three tiered bows with flower petals accent. She carried a nosegay of light pink carnations surrounding a dark pink carnation with pink streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Pat Deeds of Lancaster, sister of the groom; Mrs. Ann Miller, Mrs. Sharma Hunter, both of Lancaster; and Mrs. Diana Bell of Dayton. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Shelley Jo Jenkins, sister of the bride. All were attired in gowns identical to that of the matron of honor.

Flower girl was Miss Beth Ann Reichelderfer. Ring bearer was Jeff Deeds, nephew of the groom.

Mr. Jerry Neff served as best man. Ushers were Mr. James Deeds, brother-in-law of the groom, Mr. David Greene, Mr. George Reeser and Mr. James Keifenheim of North Carolina.

The brides mother chose a mint green textured silk ensemble for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a pale yellow sheath dress with matching coat. Both mothers wore corsages of double cymbidium orchids.

A reception followed the wedding in the Service Center of the church. Pink carnations decorated the table holding the 5-tiered wedding cake and punch bowl. White lighted tapers in silver candelabra trimmed with pink carnations and white bows carried out the color scheme.

Mrs. Susan Moss presided at the guest register. Hostesses were Mrs. Diane Wilson, Miss Jane Smith, Miss Anna Diltz and Mrs. Judi Valley.

For a brief wedding trip to Avon Lake, the new Mrs. Lutz wore a light blue A-line dress trimmed in white with matching coat and accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School and a 1965 graduate of Bliss Business College. She is employed by the State of Ohio, Bureau of Employment Services, Columbus. Mr. Lutz is a 1964 graduate of Circleville High School. He was recently discharged from three years service with the U.S. Air Force. He is currently employed as produce manager with Super Duper in Grove City. The new couple is residing at 73 Addison

Miss Donna Lee Kempton Wed To Gary O. Smith

MRS. GARY ORLANDO SMITH

Miss Donna Lee Kempton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Kempton, Williamsport, became the bride of Gary Orlando Smith, Saturday, April 19, in the Atlanta United Methodist Church, Atlanta. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith.

The Rev. Orlo D. Freshly and the Rev. Frank A. White officiated at the double ring ceremony at 4:30 p.m. Traditional nuptial music was provided by Tim Draxler, organist, and Miss Connie Fodrea, vocalist, college friends of the bride. Miss Fodrea sang, "Because," "O, Master Let Us Walk With Thee," and during the ceremony "The Wedding Prayer."

Baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli, with seven branch candelabra and palms decorated the altar of the church. Pews were marked with white satin bows, emerald foliage and white carnations.

Escorted down the aisle by her brother, Larry Kempton, the bride was given in marriage by her parents. She chose for her wedding a white formal length silk - faced satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace A-line gown. The empire bodice was overlaid with lace and a high wedding ring collar, with long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Wide scalloped lace encircled the hemline and Watteau train, which extended to chapel length. Her chapel length silk illusion veil was held in place by an Alencon lace princess crown encrusted with seed pearls. For her bouquet, the bride carried a Bible covered with an orchid.

Miss Linda Kempton of Williamsport, was maid of honor for her sister, and Mrs. Patricia Pond of Madison Mills, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Judy Smith, cousin of the bride, of Hagerstown, Ind., and Mrs. Joanne Oesterle, aunt of the bride, of Washington C. H. Miss Carol Beckett, college roommate of the bride, of Covington, Ky., was bridesmaid. They wore formal length silk chiffon sheath gowns. The empire bodices were accented with a band of satin and streamers, a jewel neckline edged in a ruffle. They wore matching organza roses and pouf veils and carried glanellias to match their gowns. The honor attendant wore yellow, while the others wore lavender, mint green, pink and blue respectively.

Miss Kathleen Tully, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Tully, of Circleville, was flower girl. Her gown of aqua was identical to the attendants and she carried a basket filled with miniature white roses. Master Greg Smith, brother of the groom, was ringbearer.

David Smith of Hagerstown, Ind., served his brother as best man. Ushers were Rick Pond of Madison Mills, Donald Oesterle of Washington C. H., Larry Kempton, brother of the bride of Williamsport, and Kenneth Smith, brother of the groom of Xenia.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church annex. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a cross. Flowers depicting the colors of the attendants' gowns were used in decorating the brides table.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donna Thompson, Miss Gloria Gerhardt, Miss Marsha Reynolds and Miss Sally Orihood, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Beverly Carper presided at the guest book.

The bride, a graduate of Westfall High School, attended Asbury College and Wilmington College, and is presently a dental assistant, employed by Dr. Joseph E. Goeller, Circleville.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenview High School, Jamestown. After having served with the United States Army in Vietnam and Germany, he is presently stationed at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Guests for the wedding were from Covington, Ky., Wilmore,

Secretaries Select Name For Chapter

The newly-formed Circleville chapter of National Secretary Association International met May 15 at the Pickaway Arms. It was the first meeting of the chapter since the organization meeting in April.

Twelve Circleville area secretaries, lead by Sharon Walters discussed a name for the local chapter. The name chosen was Roundtown.

Association members also have selected their regular meeting date as the second Thursday of each month. The June meeting will be held 8 p.m. June 12, in the home of Jeannie Moore, 310 Sunset Dr.

Installation of officers for the Roundtown Chapter will be in July.

Reservations Due For Dance At Country Club

Wednesday is the deadline for making reservations for Saturday's Pants Dance at the Pickaway Country Club.

Reservations should be made with Jean Brock at 474-7390 or Gunny Eshelman at 474-4040.

The evening's social activities will get underway with cocktails being served from 8-9 p.m. Dancing to the Luther Bowen Orchestra will be held from 9 p.m. until 1 p.m. in the recreation barn.

Decorations in the barn will be in keeping with the "Pants Dance" theme.

Brooks-Yates School Program Is Planned

Students of Brooks Yates School are preparing a program to be presented 1 p.m. Thursday at St. Philip's Parish House.

The public is invited to attend this 9th Spring Program of this school portion of the Pickaway County Training Center for mentally retarded.

Girl Is Drowned On School Trip As Bridge Falls

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) —One girl presumably drowned and nine classmates were drenched but uninjured Monday night after a footbridge over the Mohican River collapsed at Camp Nelson Dodd 20 miles northeast of here.

No cause for the bridge's collapse had been determined by early this morning. Rescue workers were still searching the deep waters for the girl late Monday night.

Knox County Sheriff's deputies said the ten children were with a group of 94 sixth graders from Newark visiting the camp as part of an outdoor education program.

The group arrived Sunday and was planning to stay a week. All have returned to Newark, deputies said.

Ky., Hagerstown, Ind., Middletown, Hamilton, Dayton, Gahanna, Wilmington, Xenia, Springfield, Sebring, Columbus, and Springboro.

For a wedding trip, the couple went to Gettysburg and Washington D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kempton entertained with the rehearsal dinner at the Wardel Party Home, Circleville, on Friday evening preceding the wedding.

Miss Jill Jenkins Becomes Bride Of Warren S. Lutz Jr.

MRS. WARREN S. LUTZ JR.

Good Shepherd United Methodist Church was the setting on May 17, for the wedding of Miss Jill Carol Jenkins and Mr. Warren Samuel Lutz Jr.

The new Mrs. Lutz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Jenkins, 353 Watt St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Lutz, 152 Logan St.

The Rev. Eugene Flowers officiated at the 7:30 p.m. double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with two seven-tier candelabra and two altar vases filled with white carnations, pom pons and gladioli. White bows marked the pews.

Miss Lucille Kirkwood presented a program of nuptial music at the organ. Clarence Radcliffe, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Wedding Prayer" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of silk peau de soie and English net. The demitent silhouette had a medieval look with a high empire waistline and a jeweled front neckline which squared off in the back. The English net sleeves were cuffed in lace and complimented the inserts of lace applied on English net on the bodice and encircling the skirt and attached chapel train.

Her short veil of silk illusion cascaded from an open pillbox and short veil of English net and lace.

The bridal bouquet consisted of white decorative mums and a cymbidium orchid in the center.

Mrs. Cheryl Bircher was matron of honor. Her gown was of pink chiffon with a wedding ring neckline, long sheer sleeves of chiffon and modified empire waistline with sheared skirt. Her headpiece was of pink chiffon in three tiered bows with flower petals accent. She carried a nosegay of light pink carnations surrounding a dark pink carnation with pink streamers.

Wife Dizzy Over Ironing Shorts!

DEAR ABBY: I've been happily married for 5 years and you may not think this is much of a problem, but here goes:

When Clyde and I were first married, he asked me to IRON his undershorts. He says his mother always did.

Well, at first I didn't mind because we had no children, but now we have two, and I could save a lot of time by just tossing them in the dryer and folding them, but I tried that once and I never heard

Police Seek Ohio Marine In Missouri

BROOKFIELD, Mo. (AP)—An AWOL Marine from Ohio was the object of a manhunt Monday in a rough, brush-covered area northeast of this north central Missouri town.

The highway patrol said Benny W. Laytart, 19, Washington Court House, Ohio, left his home last week in a stolen car with a 15-year-old girl. He had been stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Officials say Laytart stole three more cars on the way to Missouri and took a fifth car in Macon, Mo.

Friday night the couple was spotted near Brookfield. A high speed chase followed, with Laytart and the girl abandoning the car north of Brookfield.

The girl, who was not identified, was captured, but Laytart slipped away in the dark.

Linn County sheriff's deputies said there were reports of a man prowling around cars in the area Monday.

The patrol searched the area by plane along with county and city officers.

AWOL Soldier Finally Caught Near Columbus

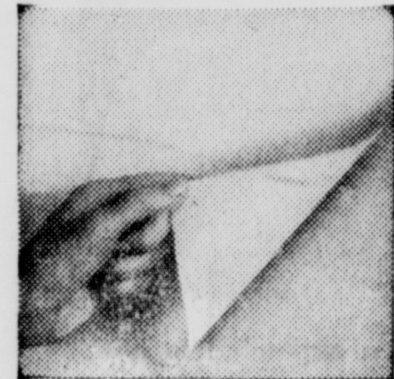

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A high speed auto chase across the Old National Trail (U.S. 440) early today led to the apprehension of an AWOL Army man, authorities reported.

Taken into custody on the eastern outskirts of Columbus was Pvt. John E. Miller, 18, of Newark. Police said he was stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland.

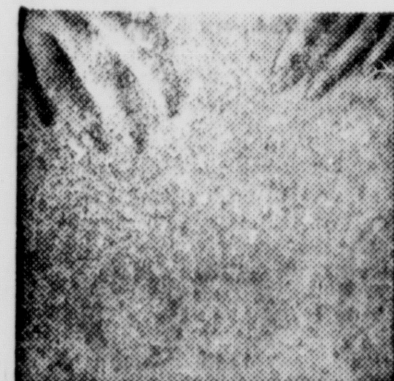

Police in Newark, about 30 miles east of here, said a city cruiser spotted Miller, who he failed to stop, and the chase was on.

Thirteen cruisers from various police departments and the highway patrol took part in the chase to Columbus. A highway patrol cruiser at one point clocked Miller at speeds in excess of 130 miles-per-hour.

3 Astronauts Find Journey Superlative

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—For the Apollo 10 space men, their view and ride were beautiful, great, fantastic, and incredible.

Using superlatives freely, astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young glowingly described their launch into space Sunday and the view of mother earth slibouetted against the black backdrop of empty space.

As the giant Saturn rocket thundered aloft from Cape Kennedy there were these exchanges:

Spacecraft: Just like old times. It's beautiful out there.

Ground controller Charles Duke: You guys sound estatic.

Spacecraft: Man, this is the greatest. Charlie babe, it's fantastic, babe.

Eight minutes after liftoff Duke asked how was the ride into space.

Spacecraft: Fantastic, Charlie. Fantastic.

After the astronauts left earth orbit on their three day ride to the moon came this:

Spacecraft: Would you believe the world is starting to fade away?

Duke: Roger. We believe it.

Spacecraft: Holy moly. I really hope we can show it to you (with onboard television). I really do.

Then the spacemen aimed their color television camera out a spacecraft window and sent to earth the first color television pictures from space.

Duke: You can't believe the picture we are getting. The resolution is really fantastic.

Spacecraft: How's the color?

Duke: It's really beautiful. Gene, (Cernan). You've got it framed just perfectly...It's really beautiful now. Really great.

At one point an official—of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration commented:

"This was the talkiest crew on liftoff in the memory of anyone here in the control center."

Youth Saves Girl After Snakebites

LANCASTER, Calif. (AP)—When two rattlesnakes bit 10-year-old Dana Robinson on both legs, her 16-year-old hiking companion quickly applied tourniquets and ran to tell her father. Doctors in Antelope Valley Hospital said James Jenkins saved the girl's life.

"I've spent a great deal of time researching how to treat snakebites," James said after the incident.

Man Is Elected President Of Nurses

DETROIT (AP)—The new president of the National Student Nurses Association is Frank J. Lang, the first male president in its history.

Lang, 26, of Colorado College in Greeley, Colo. received nursing training as a medical corpsman in the Air Force.

Viet Civilians Still Suffer Most From War

MY THO, Vietnam (AP)—When the sound of war comes to this northern delta city and it comes every day, the wounded civilians inevitably follow.

This day the sound was particularly loud. Air strikes and artillery shells were hammering the countryside. The hospital walls shook.

Dr. Alfredo del Rosario glanced at his watch as his Filipino medical team swung into action.

They swabbed out the yellow-walled operating room. They checked out the surgical equipment. Then they began figuring out what patients they could prematurely discharge from the chronically overcrowded My Tho Public Hospital, and what others they could double up two to a bed.

"Wait just two hours," Rosario commented as the noise receded. "They'll start coming in around noon. They always do after the artillery and the air strikes."

And at noon the first arrived. A woman with bloodied legs hugged a baby. A man was carried out of a small, three-wheeled bus. Someone said others were on the way.

Hospital officials say they have admitted an average of 20 seriously war wounded Vietnamese civilians each day for the past four years at least. There are 40 hospitals like this in the country and dozens of smaller ones.

The toll of dead and wounded civilians generally depresses American doctors sent over to help.

"This is a terribly bad thing," commented Dr. Alexander Fitzhugh, a pediatrician from Griffin, Ga. As chief public health adviser in Dinh Tuong Province he spends much of his time in the My Tho hospital.

"We have still not discovered the humanitarian answer to this war, how to stop killing the innocent," he declared. "We have to find this answer, particularly because this might well be the war of the future."

Rosario, a surgeon, said both sides inflict the wounds. The Viet Cong kill and maim with mortars, rockets and bobby traps. The allies strafe, bomb, use artillery, helicopters and riverboats in the ceaseless orsecution of the war.

The civilians are inevitably hurt because there are so many of them in the lush delta countryside.

As in every Vietnamese public hospital, the patients at My Tho are virtually stacked in wards and along corridors. Two patients to a bed are common.

The chaos that reigns at Vietnamese hospitals is the result of unimaginative planning, he believes: "We just planned for a short war, one or two years at the most."

He sees the need for five or 10 years planning, and postgraduate training for the Vietnamese doctors.

Civilian war casualties have a low priority in Vietnam. First preference is given the soldiery. The My Tho Military Hospital has 11 surgeons, the civilian hospital two.

Concentration on the war wounded means that people with disease are pretty much ignored.

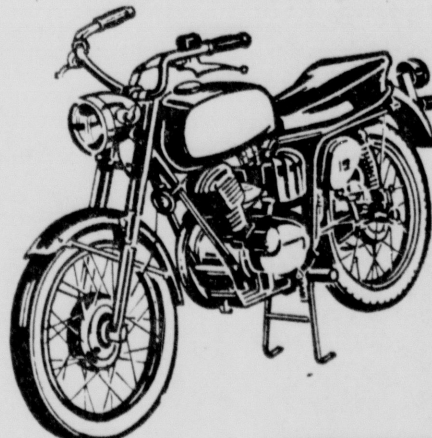

"It is our guilt complex, our collective guilt, that focuses our attention on those directly hurt by the war, the traumatic casualties," Fitzhugh observed. Fitzhugh and others seek the need for a broader approach to the medical problem.

"There is no use in letting hundreds of kids die each week from polio and hundreds more crippled by it, when it only takes a couple of drops a couple of times to save them," he said. But this kind of effort would come only with an enlightened attitude by all concerned, and Fitzhugh admits this is too much to expect at this stage of the war.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Wife Dizzy Over Ironing Shorts!

DEAR ABBY: I've been happily married for 5 years and you may not think this is much of a problem, but here goes:

When Clyde and I were first married, he asked me to IRON his undershorts. He says his mother always did.

Well, at first I didn't mind because we had no children, but now we have two, and I could save a lot of time by just tossing them in the dryer and folding them, but I tried that once and I never heard the end of it. Clyde said he could "feel" the difference.

Abby, I love my husband, but don't you think if he had a little more consideration for me he wouldn't ask me to iron his underwear?

What would YOU do?

TOO MUCH IRONING
DEAR TOO MUCH: I would iron his underwear. You are wasting more energy complaining and arguing about it than it takes to iron seven pair of shorts once a week.

DEAR ABBY: I work with a girl I'll call "Paula" who sews beautifully. I agreed to pay her $5 if she'd make me an Easter outfit.

I bought the material myself and paid $4 a yard for it. I bought plenty of material so she wouldn't have to skimp. I also told her I am a size 12.

Well, the Saturday before Easter Sunday, Paula brought the dress over and it looked beautiful! Before church, I tried it on and it was so tight and short I couldn't wear it.

A few days later I saw Paula's little 6-year-old daughter wearing a dress made out of the same material as MY dress! Now I know why my dress was so skimpy.

I haven't paid Paula the $5 yet. Do you think I should?

CHEATED
DEAR CHEATED: No. And if I were you, I'd tell her why.

DEAR ABBY: I plan to give a party for my father's 80th birthday. My problem is this: I'm going to invite a lot of his friends and relatives, and I don't want them to spend a lot of money on expensive presents. Dad is not a wealthy man. He lives very simply, and doesn't need a thing.

Would it be improper for me to ask those I invite to make a contribution to a charity instead?

My father is a kind and fun-loving man, and the greatest gift to him would be for people to come and have a good time.

DAUGHTER
DEAR DAUGHTER: Most people instinctively know better than to "spend a lot of money on expensive presents" for an 80-year-old man. Those who moved will do it anyway. The others will do what comes naturally. So forget it. Invite the friends and relatives and have a good, relaxed time.

DEAR ABBY: The letter you received for "NOT DEAD YET—BUT DYING" was the most important and timely letter you have ever published at least insofar as the American divorce rate is concerned. May I suggest that all your women readers take another look at the last paragraph. I quote: "I assure you that there isn't a normal man living who doesn't want a warm, responsive, uninhibited wife."

Sincerely, MOYSHA

3 Astronauts Find Journey Superlative

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — For the Apollo 10 space-men, their view and ride were beautiful, great, fantastic, and incredible.

Using superlatives freely, astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young glowingly described their launch into space Sunday and the view of mother earth silhouetted against the black backdrop of empty space.

As the giant Saturn rocket thundered aloft from Cape Kennedy there were these exchanges:

Stafford: Just like old times. It's beautiful out there.

Ground controller Charles Duke: You guys sound estatic.

Stafford: Man, this is the greatest. Charlie babe, it's fantastic, babe.

Eight minutes after liftoff Duke asked how was the ride into space.

Stafford: Fantastic, Charlie. Fantastic.

After the astronauts left earth orbit on their three day ride to the moon came this:

Stafford: Would you believe the world is starting to fade away?

Duke: Roger. We believe it.

Stafford: Holy moly. I really hope we can show it to you (with onboard television), I really do.

Then the spacemen aimed their color television camera out a spacecraft window and sent to earth the first color television pictures from space.

Duke: You can't believe the picture we are getting. The resolution is really fantastic.

Stafford: How's the color?

Duke: It's really beautiful. Gene (Cernan). You've got it framed just perfectly. It's really beautiful now. Really great.

At one point an official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration commented:

"This was the talkiest crew on liftoff in the memory of anyone here in the control center."

YOUTH SAVES GIRL After Snakebites

LANCASTER, Calif. (AP) — When two rattlesnakes bit 10-year-old Dana Robinson on both legs, her 16-year-old hiking companion quickly applied tourniquets and ran to tell her father. Doctors in Antelope Valley Hospital said James Jenkins saved the girl's life.

"I've spent a great deal of time researching how to treat snakebites," James said after the incident.

Man Is Elected President Of Nurses

DETROIT (AP) — The new president of the National Student Nurses Association is Frank J. Lang, the first male president in its history.

Lang, 26, of Colorado College in Greeley, Colo. received nursing training as a medical corpsman in the Air Force.

Viet Civilians Still Suffer Most From War

MY THO, Vietnam (AP) — When the sound of war comes to this northern delta city and it comes every day, the wounded civilians inevitably follow.

This day the sound was particularly loud. Air strikes and artillery shells were hammering the countryside. The hospital walls shook.

Dr. Alfredo del Rosario glanced at his watch as his Filipino medical team swung into action.

They swabbed out the yellow-walled operating room. They checked out the surgical equipment. Then they began figuring out what patients they could prematurely discharge from the chronically overcrowded My Tho Public Hospital, and what others they could double up two to a bed.

"Wait just two hours," Rosario commented as the noise receded. "They'll start coming in around noon. They always do after the artillery and the air strikes."

And at noon the first arrived. A woman with bloodied legs hugged a baby. A man was carried out of a small, three-wheeled bus. Someone said others were on the way.

Hospital officials say they have admitted an average of 20 seriously war wounded Vietnamese civilians each day for the past four years at least. There are 40 hospitals like this in the country and dozens of smaller ones.

The toll of dead and wounded civilians generally depresses American doctors sent over to help.

"This is a terribly bad thing," commented Dr. Alexander Fitzhugh, a pediatrician from Griffin, Ga. As chief public health adviser in Dinh Tuong Province he spends much of his time in the My Tho hospital.

"We have still not discovered the humanitarian answer to this war, how to stop killing the innocent," he declared. "We have to find this answer, particularly because this might well be the war of the future."

Rosario, a surgeon, said both sides inflict the wounds. The Viet Cong kill and maim with mortars, rockets and bobby traps. The allies strafe, bomb, use artillery, helicopters and riverboats in the ceaseless prosecution of the war.

The civilians are inevitably hurt because there are so many of them in the lush delta countryside.

As in every Vietnamese public hospital, the patients at My Tho are virtually stacked in wards and along corridors. Two patients to a bed are common.

The chaos that reigns at Vietnamese hospitals is the result of unimaginative planning, he believes: "We just planned for a short war, one or two years at the most."

He sees the need for five or 10 years planning, and postgraduate training for the Vietnamese doctors.

Civilian war casualties have a low priority in Vietnam. First preference is given the soldiery. The My Tho Military Hospital has 11 surgeons, the civilian hospital two.

Concentration on the war wounded means that people with disease are pretty much ignored.

"It is our guilt complex, our collective guilt, that focuses our attention on those directly hurt by the war, the traumatic casualties," Fitzhugh observed.

Fitzhugh and others see the need for a broader approach to the medical problem.

"There is no use in letting hundreds of kids die each week from polio and hundreds more crippled by it, when it only takes a couple of drops a couple of times to save them," he said.

But this kind of effort would come only with an enlightened attitude by all concerned, and Fitzhugh admits this is too much to expect at this stage of the war.

Tigers Shutout By Greenfield

The Circleville High School baseball team was shutout by Greenfield, 2-0, for the second time this year in a South Central Ohio League game played on the Tiger diamond Monday.

Both pitchers hurled well enough to win. The two Greenfield runs were unearned. Howland, a fine sophomore pitcher, has defeated the Tigers twice, allowing only seven hits in 14 innings, striking out 15 and walking one.

"We seem to make mistakes at the wrong times and our opponents really take advantage of them," Coach Dannie Fouts said. "When we get a break, we haven't been making use of it."

AFTER a scoreless five innings, and with one out in the sixth, Kellis of Greenfield reached second on a throwing error at first. Howland's single scored Kellis with the first run.

Golf Qualifiers Are Rained Out

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Qualifying rounds here and in Cleveland for the U. S. Open were rained out Monday.

The entire field here was to try again today in a 36-hole round over Ohio State University's Scarlet course.

The Cleveland qualifier originally was scheduled to be split between Pine Ridge and Tam-A-Race courses. Qualifying now will be combined in play Friday at Pine Ridge.

Aston Villa Gains Tie In Soccer Tilt

ATLANTA (AP) — Aston Villa representing Atlanta, gained a 2-2 tie with West Ham United of Baltimore in a North American Soccer League International Cup match Monday night.

Willie Anderson booted a freak goal off a corner kick that rallied the Villa from a 2-1 half-time deficit.

Van Breda Kolff Resigns Lakers; Questions Remain

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill van Breda Kolff tersely announced his resignation as coach of the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association Monday.

It was just as tersely accepted, and the silence of unanswered questions descended on Los Angeles.

For weeks, there had been unconfirmed rumors that Van Breda Kolff and the Lakers' giant center Wilt Chamberlain couldn't get along and that one of them would have to go.

There was speculation Van Breda Kolff would take over the reins for the Detroit Pistons.

"It is with regret that I leave the Lakers, but I believe my resignation is in the best interest of all concerned," Van Breda Kolff said in a statement Monday, then tried to brush aside all other questions. But with prodding, the 47-year-old Laker coach conceded he planned to discuss a position with the Pistons, possibly today or tomorrow.

Said owner Jack Kent Cooke of the Lakers:

"There's really nothing to discuss. There's no underlying 'spaghetti deal.' Bill wanted to resign and that's all there is to it."

Chamberlain, the missing factor in the equation, was unavailable for comment.

Chamberlain, who had been feuding with Van Breda Kolff during the regular season, was quoted as blaming the coach for losing the final playoff game against Boston.

Wilt had hurt his leg with about five minutes to go, and when he wanted to return in the final minutes, Van Breda Kolff kept him out.

Carfrey Hurls 3-0 Shutout For Westfall

Westfall defeated Piketon, 3-0, Monday behind the one-hit pitching of Gene Carfrey as the Mustangs continued their quest for the Scioto Valley Conference title.

Carfrey whiffed 14, walked four and allowed one hit, an infield single in the first inning.

The Mustangs scored two runs in the second inning when Tony Lightie singled and advanced to third on an error. He scored on Bill Blair's sacrifice fly to right field. Jack Moore singled, moved to second on an error and scored on Randy Alkire's double.

In the third inning, John Furniss singled, stole second and scored on Greg Bigam's double.

JACK Moore was three for three at the plate, hitting a triple and two singles. Thursday the Mustangs play at Adena.

Westfall has a 16-2 overall record. In the SVC the Mustangs have a 5-1 record. Westfall is the defending Scioto Valley Conference baseball champion.

They have already won the football title and a co-championship in basketball this year.

Orioles Happy As Leagues Catch Breath

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Seven days in May do not a season make, but the soaring Baltimore Orioles will settle for reruns of the week that was all summer long.

More of the same can't hurt the Chicago Cubs, Oakland Athletics or Atlanta Braves either. Pausing in mid-flight Monday, a breath-catcher throughout the majors, the Orioles reflected giddily on a five-game winning streak on the road that has upped their American League East Division lead from one to 3½ lengths over the past week.

"There's a long way to go," cautions Manager Earl Weaver, who'll send unbeaten left-hander Dave McNally against Minnesota tonight at home. "But as long as our pitching holds up, we'll be all right."

Despite a pair of one-run weekend setbacks at Houston, the Cubs have outgained the Orioles since last Monday, when they were three games ahead of Pittsburgh in the National League East. Today, they're six in front of both the sputtering Pirates and the spurting New York Mets.

The Athletics split four games during the week but still vaulted from percentage points behind Minnesota in the AL West to a 1½-game margin over the faltering Twins.

The Braves, 4-1, increased their NL West lead over second place Los Angeles from 2½ lengths to three. They lost a chance to pick up more ground Monday when they were rained out at Montreal in the only game scheduled.

Baltimore's Frank Robinson, who hit 10 homers in April, has connected just once in 16 games this month. But the Orioles' pitching staff, suspect before the season got underway, has been winging along—and hatching goose eggs—without a hitch.

Jim Palmer, 5-2, leads the league with three shutouts. He's also been on the losing end of two shutouts—1-0 and 2-0. McNally, 6-0, who lost a no-hitter in the ninth inning at Minnesota last Thursday, has two blank jobs to his credit. So do Tom Phoebus, 4-0, and Mike Cueller, 4-4.

Shutouts also have been the forte of the Cubs' young pitching stars. Ken Holtzman, 6-1, who is scheduled to work at Los Angeles tonight, and Ferguson Jenkins, 5-2, have thrown three apiece. Bill Hands and Dick Selma have one each and reliever Ted Abernathy finished off another combined shutout.

Circleville Second In SCOL Golf Event

Washington C.H. won the South Central Ohio League golf title Monday at Pickaway Country Club, firing a new team record of 165-154-319.

Circleville was second with a 328 total, Wilmington third at 342, Hillsboro, fourth at 370 and Greenfield fifth at 463.

The previous low total score in a league championship was 326. Steve Heath and Gary Mount of Washington shared medal honors for the regulation play, both carding 78s.

But Mount won the league trophy when he defeated Heath in the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

HEATH put together rounds of 42 and 36 for his total. Mount toured the front nine in 41 strokes and carded a one over par 37 on the back nine.

Randy Schneider carded a 41-41-82 in the third spot for Washington while Eric Kellough shot a 41-40-81.

Circleville golfers held a four stroke lead after the first nine holes with a 161 total. However, the Tigers slipped to a 167 on the back nine for a 328 total while the Blue Lions were shaving nine strokes off their first round total.

Bill Adkins carded a 41-39 for Circleville. Mike Young's 40-39-79 effort was the low score for the Tigers. Mike Ayers shot a 39-48 — 87 and Greg Heiskell a 41-41-82.

Chuck Fazio, last year's medalist from Wilmington, carded a 39-40-79 for his team Monday.

Miami Trace does not have a golf team.

Pusey To Race In State Mile

Larry Pusey of Logan Elm qualified for the Ohio State Class A High School track meet finishing third in the regional meet Saturday.

Pusey paced a 4:34.6 mile, setting a new Logan Elm record. He bettered the old record of 4:39.5 that he had set a week earlier in winning the district.

Running events in the state track meet begin at 1 p.m.

Cincy Reds Beat Tribe In Exhibition

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnati pitchers plagued by sore arms this year hurled the Reds past Cleveland 7-4 Monday night in the annual Kid Glove exhibition game here.

"It is just a plus having them back again," Manager Dave Bristol said about starter Gary Nolan and Gerry Arrigo who picked up the victory. "They'll be all right, but most of all, I like it because we won."

Neither complained of soreness after the game.

Nolan went four innings and pitched to two batters before being relieved by Wayne Granger. Nolan gave up all four runs. Arrigo hurled four innings of scoreless ball.

Alex Johnson batted in four runs with a two-run homer in the third inning that put Cincinnati ahead 3-1 and then a two-run single in the sixth that put the club ahead for good.

Bobby Tolan knocked in two runs with a triple and single. The Indians went ahead 1-0 in the second inning on a throwing error and tallied two runs in the fourth—one on a homer by Rick Scheinblum. Pitcher Steve Barga also knocked in a run with one of two singles but was battered on the mound for six runs and six hits in five innings.

Proceeds of the game went to equipment for the Cincinnati area's knothole baseball players. Attendance for the affair totaled 17,863.

Atlantic Classic Golf Tournament Slated

ATLANTA (AP) — The full 144-man field for the fifth annual Atlanta Classic Golf Tournament has been completed.

John Lively of Canton, Tex., shot a four-under-par 68 Monday to lead a field of 120 golfers who sought to qualify for the 21 open spots in the four-day Classic which begins Thursday.

MODERN GLADIATOR—Rocky Marciano, unbeaten former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, flexes his muscles in an ideal setting. It is the ruins of the ancient Colosseum in Rome, where Roman gladiators did all-out battle in ancient times.

Logan Elm Loses Both Ends Of Doubleheader At Adena

Logan Elm lost both ends of a doubleheader at Adena Monday in Scioto Valley Conference action.

Playing a senior team in the first game, the Braves came out on the short end of a 12-5 score. In the second tilt, coach Vic Pontius played all underclassmen, losing, 9-0.

Steve Swank started for the Braves in the first tilt, going all the way. He was touched for nine hits, fanned four and walked four. Cox was the winning hurler, whiffing seven, striking out three and allowing eight hits.

Logan Elm scored three runs in the top half of the first inning in the initial game. An error, a fielder's choice, a hit batsman and singles by Bob Triplehorn, Chuck West and Steve Sykes accounted for the three tallies.

IN the top of the seventh, a single by Tom Beavers, a walk issued to Swank and singles by Danny Fauspaugh and Triplehorn accounted for two runs. Adena scored three in the first, six in the bottom half of the third and three insurance runs in the sixth.

Fauspaugh pitched the second game. He struck out five, walked three and allowed only five hits. However, eight Logan Elm errors figured in seven of the nine runs scored by Adena.

Bennett was the winner in the second game, walking four, fanning eight and allowing two hits.

Bob Triplehorn played both games and was four for five at the plate for the night. Tom Beavers had two singles in three trips in the first game.

It was the end of the season for the Logan Elm Varsity. The Braves have a reserve game scheduled at Teays Valley Wednesday.

The LE varsity finished with a 7-10 overall record and a 4-8 conference slate.

Top Names In Racing Pull Big Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Broad-shouldered Cale Yarborough turned down a promising football career to become a professional auto racing driver. It was the best financial decision he ever made.

Mark Donohue is a mechanical engineering graduate of Brown University, a baby-faced "all-American boy" type. He's considered the best road racing driver in the U.S.

Mario Andretti is the son of an Italian immigrant. His rags-to-riches story includes a $200,000 per year contract with driving titles.

A.J. Foyt came up from the dirt tracks of Texas to win five national driving titles, the Indianapolis 500 three times and more than $2 million in prize money. And he's still going strong.

Yarborough, Donohue, Andretti and Foyt are typical of the men, both professional and amateur, who became enamored of autos at an early age and now dominate the ranks of the booming world of motor sports.

Along with such other superstars as Bobby Unser, Parnelli Jones, Richard Petty, Dan Gurney, Lee Roy Yarborough, David Pearson and dragster Don Garlits, they represent the higher echelons of income among the racing pros, each in the $100,000 a year class or better.

They also typify the new "image" for motorsports. Promoters long since have been disillusioned with the greasy, stained, hell-for-leather, tobacco-chewing, liquor-drinking, prototypes of auto racing so long portrayed in C-Class movies from Hollywood.

Mike Downs of Washington, D.C., is 22, beginning his second year of competition in the small-bore amateur ranks of the Sports Car Club of America. In 1968 he won his first national division title, and is thirsting for more. He works five days a week in a garage, races weekends.

John Kelly also is an amateur. An electronics engineer from M.I.T., he has numerous trophies to prove his ability as a race driver. He is 38 and feels his career is just beginning.

Kelly and Downs are typical of the amateur side of what many consider to be the most dangerous of all sports. They also represent the thinking of many of the amateurs—they want to become professionals.

"There's no thrill like the thrill of competition," says Downs, a slender youth who is single and has been "following the races" since he was 13. "To me it isn't dangerous. You never think about that."

Yarborough, a 30-year-old blond, 190-pounder, won $136,000 on the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) circuit last year. For him, the lure of money and security override the dangers involved.

And Yarborough should know the dangers. He has had several brushes with death in a driving career that began while he was plowing rows of cotton and tobacco with a tractor on his father's farm at 14.

There was a 75-foot ride over the high wall at Darlington, in which his car was demolished. He walked away from it. He rammed a concrete retaining barrier at Riverside, Calif.—at a spot where two other drivers had been killed only months before. At Daytona in February, he had a spectacular 170-mile per hour collision with the retaining wall, spent just two hours in a hospital.

"Anyone who gets in a race car takes chances," says Yarborough. "Let's face it, we are driving at speeds of more than 200 miles an hour."

But Foyt and Andretti had other things going for them. Foyt owns his own racing team, backed by a contract with Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. that may well run in the neighborhood of $1 million.

Andretti, who recently began branching out into the international side of racing, is in the final year of a long term contract with Firestone, reportedly worth $200,000 a year. Firestone announced last year that there will be no more of these long-term contracts.

From a safety standpoint, racing has come a long way in recent years. Race cars built for the professional side of the sport must meet rigid safety requirements, including roll bars, firewalls, non-explosive fuel tanks, and at least 50 additional safety features.

Drivers must undergo periodic medical exams, and many of them spend long hours each week in body-building exercises. "Race drivers are among the finest athletes in the nation," says Dr. Don Tarr, a North Miami Beach, Fla., physician who races as a hobby.

Yarborough sums up his career in motorsports this way. "It's a good life. Racing has been good to me, and I don't know how I could make this much money outside the sport." Tomorrow's story: the involvement of the Detroit manufacturers.

winner in the majors with a 7-1 mark, has led the Athletics' surge past Minnesota. Reggie Jackson, 11 homers. Rick Monday two grand slams, and Danny Cater, a .325 batting figure, are the big offensive guns.

The Braves, whose only loss in their last eight starts was a 9-3 late-inning collapse against the Mets last Wednesday, have been hit hard by injuries. They lost Rico Carty, dislocated shoulder, Tito Francona, dislocated thumb, and Orlando Cepeda hit on the batting helmet with a pitch, in weekend games at Montreal.

But Hank Aaron, the NL's No. 2 hitter at .375, continues to rake opposing pitchers at will while Phil Niekro, 8-2, Ron Reed, 5-1, Pat Jarvis, 3-2, and reliever George Stone, 4-0, carry the mound load. Niekro, Reed and Jarvis each has won twice during the club's 7-1 surge.

Minnesota's Rod Carew leads the AL with a .377 batting mark and has stolen home four times, but the Twins' four-game tailspin has dropped them behind the A's.

The Pirates have lost five straight to slip into a second place tie with the suddenly robust Mets in the NL East.

The Mets, triggered by Cleon Jones' league-leading .388 clip, have scored 21 runs in their last two games to climb within one victory of the .500 mark—a level they have never attained in the month of May.

The entire field here was to try again today in a 36-hole round over Ohio State University's Scarlet course.

The Cleveland qualifier originally was scheduled to be split between Pine Ridge and Tam-A-Race courses. Qualifying now will be combined in play Friday at Pine Ridge.

Aston Villa Gains Tie In Soccer Tilt

ATLANTA (AP) — Aston Villa representing Atlanta, gained a 2-2 tie with West Ham United of Baltimore in a North American Soccer League International Cup match Monday night.

Willie Anderson booted a freak goal off a corner kick that rallied the Villa from a 2-1 half-time deficit.

Van Breda Kolff Resigns Lakers; Questions Remain

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill van Breda Kolff tersely announced his resignation as coach of the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association Monday.

It was just as tersely accepted, and the silence of unanswered questions descended on Los Angeles.

For weeks, there had been unconfirmed rumors that Van Breda Kolff and the Lakers' giant center Wilt Chamberlain couldn't get along and that one of them would have to go.

There was speculation Van Breda Kolff would take over the reins for the Detroit Pistons.

"It is with regret that I leave the Lakers, but I believe my resignation is in the best interest of all concerned," Van Breda Kolff said in a statement Monday, then tried to brush aside all other questions.

But with prodding, the 47-year-old Laker coach conceded he planned to discuss a position with the Pistons, possibly today or tomorrow.

Said owner Jack Kent Cooke of the Lakers:

"There's really nothing to discuss. There's no underlying 'spaghetti deal.' Bill wanted to resign and that's all there is to it."

Chamberlain, the missing factor in the equation, was unavailable for comment.

Chamberlain, who had been feuding with Van Breda Kolff during the regular season, was quoted as blaming the coach for losing the final playoff game against Boston.

Will had hurt his leg with about five minutes to go, and when he wanted to return in the final minutes, Van Breda Kolff kept him out.

Carfrey Hurls 3-0 Shutout For Westfall

Westfall defeated Picketon, 3-0, Monday behind the one-hit pitching of Gene Carfrey as the Mustangs continued their quest for the Scioto Valley Conference title.

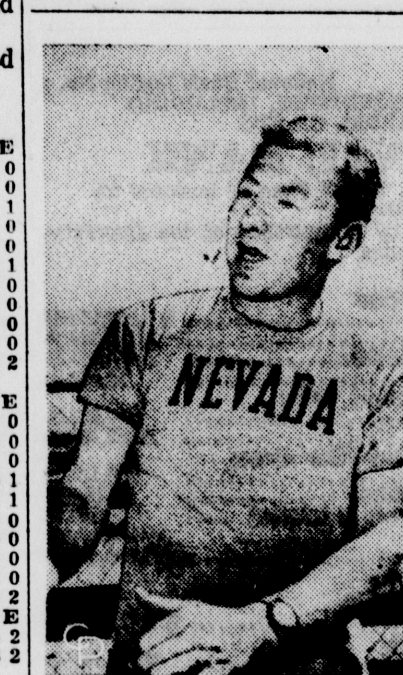

Carfrey whiffed 14, walked four and allowed one hit, an infield single in the first inning. The Mustangs scored two runs in the second inning when Tony Lightie singled and advanced to third on an error. He scored on Bill Blair's sacrifice fly to right field. Jack Moore singled, moved to second on an error and scored on Randy Alkire's double.

In the third inning, John Furniss singled, stole second and scored on Greg Bigam's double. ***

JACK Moore was three for three at the plate, hitting a triple and two singles. Thursday the Mustangs play at Adena.

Westfall has a 16-2 overall record. In the SVC the Mustangs have a 5-1 record. Westfall is the defending Scioto Valley Conference baseball champion.

They have already won the football title and a co-championship in basketball this year.

BACK IN ACTION — Jackie Jensen, former Yankee outfielder, is back in action coaching the University of Nevada baseball team after a heart attack in March.

Several days later Chamberlain apologized about his actions after the game and absolved Van Breda Kolff.

Newsmen trying to reach Van Breda Kolff at his home later were told by his wife he wasn't in.

In the first year with the team — fresh from five years coaching at Princeton, his alma mater — Van Breda Kolff brought the Lakers to second place in the Western Division and made it to the 1967 NBA playoffs against Boston. The Celtics won 4-2.

When the Lakers acquired the 7-foot-2 Chamberlain from the Philadelphia 76ers last year, fans figured the Lakers to go all the way against the Celtics.

And after compiling a 55-27 regular season record — their best ever — the Lakers lost the seventh and deciding game to the Celtics 108-106.

Orioles Happy As Leagues Catch Breath

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Seven days in May do not a season make, but the soaring Baltimore Orioles will settle for reruns of the week that was all summer long.

More of the same can't hurt the Chicago Cubs, Oakland Athletics or Atlanta Braves either. Pausing in mid-flight Monday, a breath-catcher throughout the majors, the Orioles reflected giddily on a five-game winning streak on the road that has upped their American League East Division lead from one to 3½ lengths over the past week.

"There's a long way to go," cautions Manager Earl Weaver, who'll send unbeaten left-hander Dave McNally against Minnesota tonight at home. "But as long as our pitching holds up, we'll be all right."

Despite a pair of one-run weekend setbacks at Houston, the Cubs have outgained the Orioles since last Monday, when they were three games ahead of Pittsburgh in the National League East. Today, they're six in front of both the sputtering Pirates and the spurring New York Mets.

The Athletics split four games during the week but still vaulted from percentage points behind Minnesota in the AL West to a 1½-game margin over the faltering Twins.

The Braves, 4-1, increased their NL West lead over second place Los Angeles from 2½ lengths to three. They lost a chance to pick up more ground Monday when they were rained out at Montreal in the only game scheduled.

Cincy Reds Beat Tribe In Exhibition

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnati pitchers plagued by sore arms this year hurled the Reds past Cleveland 7-4 Monday night in the annual Kid Glove exhibition game here.

"It is just a plus having them back again," Manager Dave Bristol said about starter Gary Nolan and Gerry Arrigo who picked up the victory. "They'll be all right, but most of all, I like it because we won."

Neither complained of soreness after the game.

Nolan went four innings and pitched to two batters before being relieved by Wayne Granger. Nolan gave up all four runs. Arrigo hurled four innings of scoreless ball.

Alex Johnson batted in four runs with a two-run homer in the third inning that put Cincinnati ahead 3-1 and then a two-run single in the sixth that put the club ahead for good.

Bobby Tolan knocked in two runs with a triple and single.

The Indians went ahead 1-0 in the second inning on a throwing error and tallied two runs in the fourth — one on a homer by Rick Scheinblum. Pitcher Steve Bargan also knocked in a run with one of two singles but was battered on the mound for six runs and six hits in five innings.

Proceeds of the game went to equipment for the Cincinnati area's knothole baseball players. Attendance for the affair totaled 17,863.

Atlantic Classic Golf Tournament Slated

ATLANTA (AP) — The full 144-man field for the fifth annual Atlanta Classic Golf Tournament has been completed.

John Lively of Canton, Tex., shot a four-under-par 68 Monday to lead a field of 120 golfers who sought to qualify for the 21 open spots in the four-day Classic which begins Thursday.

Baltimore's Frank Robinson, who hit 10 homers in April, has connected just once in 16 games this month. But the Orioles' pitching staff, suspect before the season got underway, has been winging along — and hatching goose eggs — without a hitch.

Jim Palmer, 5-2, leads the league with three shutouts. He's also been on the losing end of two shutouts — 1-0 and 2-0. McNally, 6-0, who lost a no-hitter in the ninth inning at Minnesota last Thursday, has two blank jobs to his credit. So do Tom Phoebus, 4-0, and Mike Cuellar, 4-4.

Shutouts also have been the forte of the Cubs' young pitching stars. Ken Holtzman, 6-1, who is scheduled to work at Los Angeles tonight, and Ferguson Jenkins, 5-2, have thrown three apiece. Bill Hands and Dick Selma have one each and reliever Ted Abernathy finished off another combined shutout.

John "Blue Moon" Odom, top

winner in the majors with a 7-1 mark, has led the Athletics' surge past Minnesota. Reggie Jackson, 11 homers, Rick Monday two grand slams, and Danny Cater, a .328 batting figure, are the big offensive guns.

The Braves, whose only loss in their last eight starts was a 9-3 late-inning collapse against the Mets last Wednesday, have been hit hard by injuries. They lost Rico Carty, dislocated shoulder, Tito Francona, dislocated thumb, and Orlando Cepeda hit on the batting helmet with a pitch, in weekend games at Montreal.

But Hank Aaron, the NL's No. 2 hitter at .375, continues to rake opposing pitchers at will while Phil Niekro, 6-2, Ron Reed, 5-1, Pat Jarvis, 3-2, and reliever George Stone, 4-0, carry the mound load. Niekro, Reed and Jarvis each has won twice during the club's 7-1 surge.

Minnesota's Rod Carew leads the AL with a .377 batting mark and has stolen home four times, but the Twins' four-game tailspin has dropped them behind the A's.

The Pirates have lost five straight to slip into a second place tie with the suddenly robust Mets in the NL East.

The Mets, triggered by Cleon Jones' league-leading .388 clip, have scored 21 runs in their last two games to climb within one victory of the .500 mark — a level they have never attained in the month of May.

Circleville Second In SCOL Golf Event

Washington C.H. won the South Central Ohio League golf title Monday at Pickaway Country Club, firing a new team record of 165-154-319.

Circleville was second with a 328 total, Wilmington third at 342, Hillsboro, fourth at 370 and Greenfield fifth at 463.

The previous low total score in a league championship was 326. Steve Heath and Gary Mount of Washington shared medal honors for the regulation play, both carding 78s.

But Mount won the league trophy when he defeated Heath in the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

HEATH put together rounds of 42 and 36 for his total. Mount toured the front nine in 41 strokes and carded a one over par 37 on the back nine.

Randy Schneider carded a 41-41-82 in the third spot for Washington while Eric Kellough shot a 41-40-81.

Circleville golfers held a four stroke lead after the first nine holes with a 161 total. However, the Tigers slipped to a 167 on the back nine for a 328 total while the Blue Lions were shaving nine strokes off their first round total.

Bill Adkins carded a 41-39 for Circleville. Mike Young's 40-39-79 effort was the low score for the Tigers. Mike Ayers shot a 39-48 — 87 and Greg Heiskell a 41-41-82.

Chuck Fazio, last year's medalist from Wilmington, carded a 39-40-79 for his team Monday.

Miami Trace does not have a golf team.

Pusey To Race In State Mile

Larry Pusey of Logan Elm qualified for the Ohio State Class A High School track meet finishing third in the regional meet Saturday.

Pusey paced a 4:34.6 mile, setting a new Logan Elm record. He bettered the old record of 4:39.5 that he had set a week earlier in winning the district.

Running events in the state track meet begin at 1 p.m.

500 Schedule Disrupted

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Indianapolis 500 could very well be won by a 700-mile engine this year.

The car handlers' schedule of preparation for the May 30 race was thrown off last weekend when the opening two days of qualifying were rained out for the first time in history.

The usual routine on a car that qualifies includes tearing down the engine and rebuilding it between qualifying and race day. But this year that period will be only five days at most, with qualifying scheduled Saturday and Sunday.

"It would be impossible to rebuild them all in that time," said Danny Jones of the Ford Motor Co. Monday.

The turbocharged Ford has proved to be the most powerful of this year's engines, and there are 22 of them.

Jones, Ford's racing coordinator, and his staff help the individual car crews in the rebuilding work, which takes at least a day.

Many engines were in pieces in the Ford garages and elsewhere Monday.

"Several of the engines out there for qualifying will be race day engines," Jones said.

"Some will have 150 to 200 miles on them (from practice and qualifying laps). Usually they have only about 50."

Cars with turbo Fords have the four fastest speeds in practice so far, topped by Mario Andretti's lap of 171.789 miles per hour. But the Offenhauser engines are generally considered to be ahead in the important areas of reliability and fuel consumption.

Bennett was the winner in the second game, walking four, fanning eight and allowing two hits.

Bob Triplehorn played both games and was four for five at the plate for the night. Tom Beavers had two singles in three trips in the first game.

It was the end of the season for the Logan Elm Varsity. The Braves have a reserve game scheduled at Teays Valley Wednesday.

The LE varsity finished with a 7-10 overall record and a 4-8 conference slate.

Top Names In Racing Pull Big Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Broad-shouldered Cale Yarborough turned down a promising football career to become a professional auto racing driver. It was the best financial decision he ever made.

Mark Donohue is a mechanical engineering graduate of Brown University, a baby-faced "all-American boy" type. He's considered the best road racing driver in the U.S.

Mario Andretti is the son of an Italian immigrant. His rags-to-riches story includes a $200,000 per year contract with driving titles.

A.J. Foyt came up from the dirt tracks of Texas to win five national driving titles, the Indianapolis 500 three times and more than $2 million in prize money. And he's still going strong.

Yarborough, Donohue, Andretti and Foyt are typical of the men, both professional and amateur, who became enamored of autos at an early age and now dominate the ranks of the booming world of motorsports.

Along with such other superstars as Bobby Unser, Parnelli Jones, Richard Petty, Dan Gurney, Lee Roy Yarborough, David Pearson and dragster Don Garlits, they represent the high echelons of income among the racing pros, each in the $100,000 a year class or better.

They also typify the new "image" for motorsports. Promoters long since have been disillusioned with the grease-stained, hell-for-leather, tobacco-chewing, liquor-drinking, prototypes of auto racing so long portrayed in C-class movies from Hollywood.

Mike Downs of Washington, D.C., is 22, beginning his second year of competition in the small-bore amateur ranks of the Sports Car Club of America. In 1968 he won his first national division title, and is thirsting for more. He works five days a week in a garage, races weekends.

John Kelly also is an amateur. An electronics engineer from M.I.T., he has numerous trophies to prove his ability as a race driver. He is 38 and feels his career is just beginning.

Kelly and Downs are typical of the amateur side of what many consider to be the most dangerous of all sports. They also represent the thinking of many of the amateurs — they want to become professionals.

"There's no thrill like the thrill of competition," says Downs, a slender youth who is single and has been "following the races" since he was 13. "To me it isn't dangerous. You never think about that."

Yarborough, a 30-year-old blond, 190-pounder, won $136,000 on the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) circuit last year. For him, the lure of money and security override the dangers involved.

And Yarborough should know the dangers. He has had several brushes with death in a driving career that began while he was plowing rows of cotton and tobacco with a tractor on his father's farm at 14.

There was a 75-foot ride over the high wall at Darlington, in which his car was demolished. He walked away from it. He rammed a concrete retaining barrier at Riverside, Calif. — at a spot where two other drivers had been killed only months before. At Daytona in February, he had a spectacular 170-mile per hour collision with the retaining wall, spent just two hours in a hospital.

"Anyone who gets in a race car takes chances," says Yarborough. "Let's face it, we are driving at speeds of more than 200 miles an hour."

But Foyt and Andretti had other things going for them. Foyt owns his own racing team, backed by a contract with Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. that may well run in the neighborhood of $1 million.

Andretti, who recently began branching out into the international side of racing, is in the final year of a long term contract with Firestone, reportedly worth $200,000 a year. Firestone announced last year that there will be no more of these long-term contracts.

From a safety standpoint, racing has come a long way in recent years. Race cars built for the professional side of the sport must meet rigid safety requirements, including roll bars, firewalls, non-explosive fuel tanks, and at least 50 additional safety features.

Drivers must undergo periodic medical exams, and many of them spend long hours each week in body-building exercises. "Race drivers are among the finest athletes in the nation," says Dr. Don Tarr, a North Miami Beach, Fla., physician who races as a hobby.

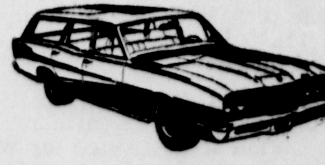

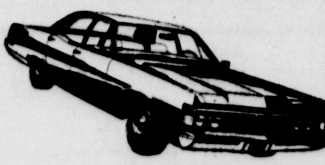

Yarborough sums up his career in motorsports this way. "It's a good life. Racing has been good to me, and I don't know how I could make this much money outside the sport."

Tomorrow's story: the involvement of the Detroit manufacturers.

Sonny Liston Whips Johnson In 7 Rounds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—It may be hard to believe but the old man of the boxing ring, Charles "Sonny" Liston, is back knocking on the throne room of the heavyweight division.

"I wanted it very bad," said the 37-year-old ex-champion, after stopping George "Scrap Iron" Johnson in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-round Monday night in the Convention Center.

What Sonny wants even more is a 15-round bout with Jimmy Ellis, the World Boxing Association champion.

Promoter Bill Miller, who staged the Johnson bout, said an Ellis match is in the making. Whether it will be here, Liston's adopted hometown, or elsewhere has yet to be decided. Ellis and his manager, Angelo Dundee of Miami Beach, Fla., hold the hole card.

The one here was a fight. Scrap Iron, 27, who absorbed everything Joe Frazier could throw in 10 rounds in 1967, did almost the same thing with the Bear who could once take an opponent out with one punch.

Referee Harry Krause halted things after two minutes, 55 seconds of the seventh round. Liston hit Johnson with more punches than ringsiders could count.

The obvious question: Who hits harder, Liston or Frazier? "Joe Frazier," said Johnson without hesitation.

Liston weighed 217, about normal for his best years, and Johnson, 212.

NHL Flyers Reorganize Management

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—In a sweeping reorganization, the Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League named Vic Stasiuk head coach and kicked former coach Keith Allen upstairs into the front office.

Flyers' executives said it was fulfillment of a plan made three years ago, but until last week, Allen was headed for at least another year as coach and Stasiuk was a fixture at Quebec in the American Hockey League.

The 39-year-old Stasiuk was given the job of putting some muscle and scoring power into a team which finished third in the West Division last season and was blown out of the Stanley Cup playoffs in four first-round games by the St. Louis Blues.

Allen, 45, was made a vice president and assistant general manager.

According to Monday's announcement, Allen will be in direct charge of the Flyers' playing personnel.

Where does that leave General Manager Bud Poile?

High Court Frees Leary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court unanimously threw out Monday conviction of Timothy F. Leary, noted drug experimenter, on a finding that compliance with federal marijuana laws would violate his protection against self-incrimination.

The ruling, given by Justice John Marshall Harlan, seriously damaged—perhaps fatally—the marijuana laws.

The court reasoned that compliance with their provisions would expose Leary and others in the same situation to prosecution under state marijuana laws.

The decision follows the same reasoning the court used last year to riddle federal laws requiring gamblers to buy tax stamps and certain firearm possessors to register with the government.

The resignation of Abe Fortas last week from the high court had no effect on this important 8-0 ruling.

LET LINDSAY SHOW YOU THE DIFFERENCE!

There's a big difference in water softeners.

Don't be lulled into thinking that water softeners are all alike. Of the three leaders in the field, ONLY LINDSAY is different.

HERE'S ONE BIG DIFFERENCE:

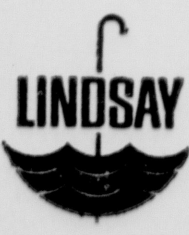

SPECIAL LIFETIME GUARANTEE ON FIBERGLASS TANKS

ONLY Lindsay gives you a LIFE-TIME GUARANTEE on tanks. (You get only a 10-year guarantee from the other two.)

ONLY Lindsay pioneered the all-fiber glass pressure tanks. Fiberglass resin and salt tanks are guaranteed, for the OWNER'S LIFE-TIME against rust, corrosion, leakage, bursting, failure to perform. (Of course, you can move your LINDSAY tank wherever you move, too.)

What more could you ask for in your water softener?

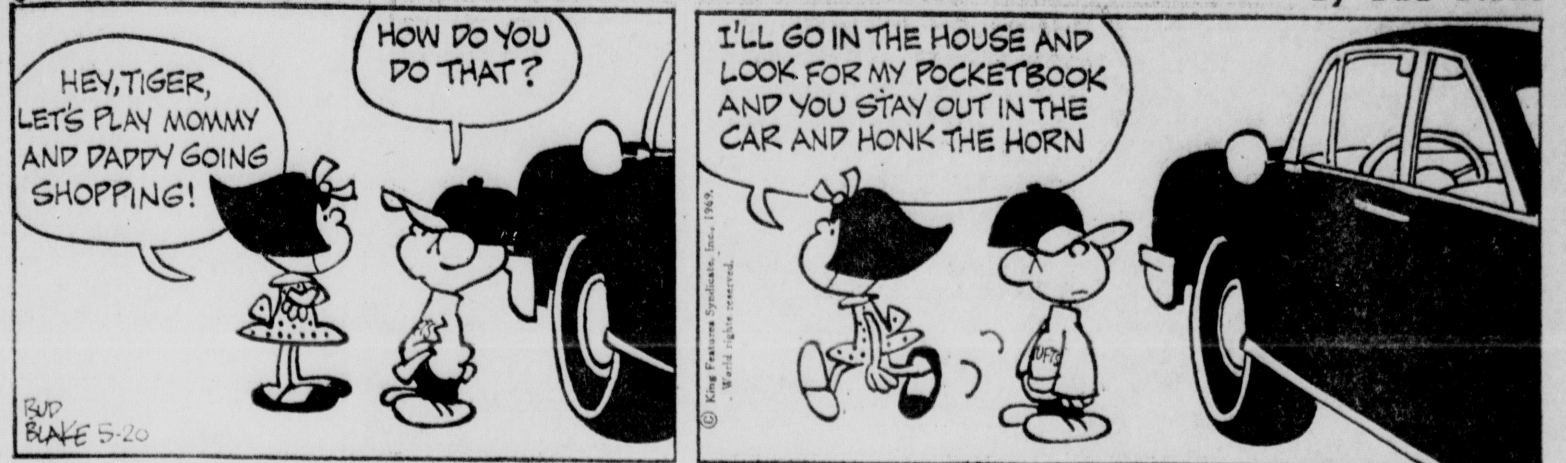

ASK FOR LINDSAY — THE ONLY WATER SOFTENER IN THE TOP THREE THAT GIVES YOU THE BIG DIFFERENCE!

Call for the facts today. No obligation.

Sonny Liston Whips Johnson In 7 Rounds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—It may be hard to believe but the old man of the boxing ring, Charles "Sonny" Liston, is back knocking on the throne room of the heavyweight division.

"I wanted it very bad," said the 37-year-old ex-champion, after stopping George "Scrap Iron" Johnson in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-round Monday night in the Convention Center.

What Sonny wants even more is a 15-round bout with Jimmy Ellis, the World Boxing Association champion.

Promoter Bill Miller, who staged the Johnson bout, said an Ellis match is in the making. Whether it will be here, Liston's adopted hometown, or elsewhere has yet to be decided. Ellis and his manager, Angelo Dundee of Miami Beach, Fla., hold the hole card.

The one here was a fight. Scrap Iron, 27 who absorbed everything Joe Frazier could throw in 10 rounds in 1967, did almost the same thing with the Bear who could once take an opponent out with one punch. Referee Harry Krause halted things after two minutes, 55 seconds of the seventh round.

Liston hit Johnson with more punches than ringriders could count.

The obvious question: Who hits harder, Liston or Frazier? "Joe Frazier," said Johnson without hesitation.

Liston weighed 217, about normal for his best years, and Johnson, 212.

NHL Flyers Reorganize Management

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—In a sweeping reorganization, the Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League named Vic Stasiuk head coach and kicked former coach Keith Allen upstairs into the front office.

Flyers' executives said it was fulfillment of a plan made three years ago, but until last week, Allen was headed for at least another year as coach and Stasiuk was a fixture at Quebec in the American Hockey League.

The 39-year-old Stasiuk was given the job of putting some muscle and scoring power into a team which finished third in the West Division last season and was blown out of the Stanley Cup playoffs in four first-round games by the St. Louis Blues.

Allen, 45, was made a vice president and assistant general manager.

According to Monday's announcement, Allen will be in direct charge of the Flyers' playing personnel.

Where does that leave General Manager Bud Poile?

High Court Frees Leary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court unanimously threw out Monday conviction of Timothy F. Leary, noted drug experimenter, on a finding that compliance with federal marijuana laws would violate his protection against self-incrimination.

The ruling, given by Justice John Marshall Harlan, seriously damaged—perhaps fatally—the marijuana laws.

The court reasoned that compliance with their provisions would expose Leary and others in the same situation to prosecution under state marijuana laws.

The decision follows the same reasoning the court used last year to riddle federal laws requiring gamblers to buy tax stamps and certain firearm possessors to register with the government.

The resignation of Abe Fortas last week from the high court had no effect on this important 8-0 ruling.

LET LINDSAY SHOW YOU THE DIFFERENCE!

There's a big difference in water softeners.

Don't be lulled into thinking that water softeners are all alike. Of the three leaders in the field, ONLY LINDSAY is different.

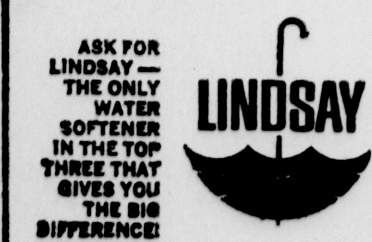

HERE'S ONE BIG DIFFERENCE:

SPECIAL LIFETIME GUARANTEE ON FIBERGLASS TANKS

ONLY Lindsay gives you a LIFE-TIME GUARANTEE on tanks. (You get only a 10-year guarantee from the other two.)

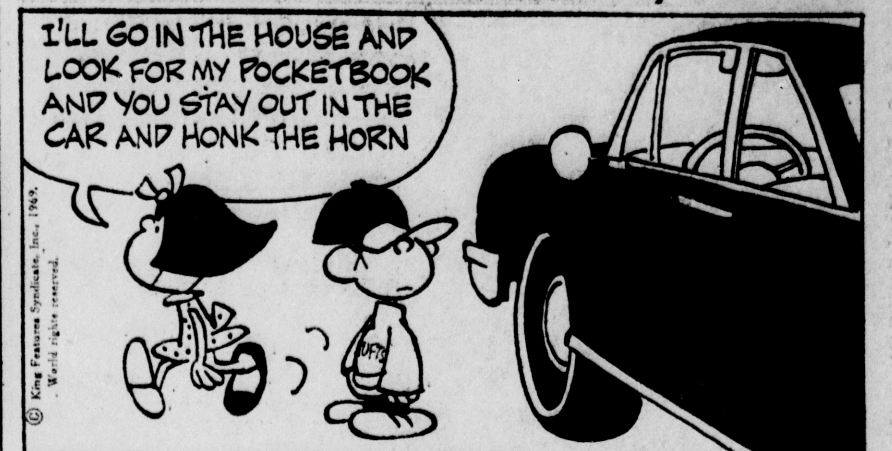

ONLY Lindsay pioneered the all-fiber glass pressure tanks. Fiberglass resin and salt tanks are guaranteed, for the OWNER'S LIFE-TIME, against rust, corrosion, leaks, bursting, failure to perform. (Of course, you can move your LINDSAY tank wherever you move.)

What more could you ask for in your water softener?

The annual music appreciation and awards banquet for Logan Elm music students was held Friday in the high school gymnasium.

The invocation was given by Roger Hobbie, a school board member.

Following a carry-in dinner, the girls ensemble sang "Cherish" and "Michelle." The boys ensemble then presented "Shadow March" and "Music to Watch Girls By."

John M. Ridzon, music instructor, then began the presentation of awards. With the help of John Henn, district superintendent, Ridzon awarded all choir members gold pins for their service.

Ann Gearhart, a senior choir member, presented Ridzon with an "award" from the students of the music department, pair of gold cufflinks.

Band awards were distributed to all bandmen according to their class rank. Freshmen and juniors received pins, sophomores received letters, and seniors were awarded felt certificates, inscribed with their music activities.

The girls' and boys' ensembles then received their contest medals from Ridzon. The girls were presented medals for their superior rating at the contest. The boys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration spokesmen went to bat for extension of the income surtax today as the House prepared to debate a closely related proposal to clamp a lid on government spending.

President Nixon is pushing hard for extension of the 10 percent surtax past its current June 30 expiration date, but is opposing the proposed $192.9 billion federal spending ceiling.

The House ways and Means Committee called administration witnesses in today to support the Nixon proposal to retain the surcharge at the 10 percent level from June 30 through Dec. 31, then lower it to 5 percent for the following six months.

Those scheduled were Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, Treasury undersecretary Charles E. Walker; Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers; and Budget Director

Robert P. Mayo.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, told newsmen he has not changed his view that the proposed spending ceiling is a necessary condition of any extension of the surcharge.

Mayo, previously testified before a Senate committee that the spending ceiling is unnecessary. And, he said, it would be extremely difficult if not impossible for the government to operate under its terms.

House debate on a $3.8 billion catchall money bill that includes the ceiling provision was scheduled for later today. Included in this measure is $1.9 million for the lawmakers to give themselves the pay raise they approved effective March 1.

The Ways and Means Committee is interrupting its tax reform deliberations to take up the surtax which is scheduled to expire June 30 unless Congress acts by that time.

Mills' goal is House consideration during the first week of June. He has not committed himself to extension, but is believed to favor it on his terms.

The budget ceiling proposal before the House today differs from one imposed by Congress last year against the wishes of the Johnson administration.

The new spending limit would provide flexibility when Congress itself exceeded the budget in its appropriations. But it would not have the specific exemptions of some categories of spending that was provided in 1968.

Mayo has been urging that exceptions be provided for what he called uncontrollable expenditures, such as interest on the public debt, farm price supports, welfare, social security and veterans' benefit payments, and for what he termed unpredictable Vietnam expenses.

Mayo said it is not good management for Congress to grant authority for spending agency by agency "and then to establish an arbitrary limit on the total that can be paid when all the individual bills come due." "To insure that any such spending ceiling is not exceeded," he said, "the President typically must reduce programs below levels that have been approved by the Congress."
